PRB GAS TRANSPORTATION EXPANDS DRILLING INTERESTS

IN WYOMING S POWDER RIVER BASIN

Denver, Colorado March 3, 2006 PRB Gas Transportation, Inc., (PRB or the Company) (AMEX:PRB) today announced that it has acquired a 15% working interest in approximately five sections of land representing 3,200 acres underlying its GAP & Bonepile gathering systems in Wyoming s Powder River Basin. PRB will be presenting a 30 to 40 coal-bed methane (CBM) well drilling program and budget to the other working interest owners in the near term. PRB s plan calls for the Company to operate these wells and to provide gathering services.

Robert Wright, PRB s Chairman and CEO noted, In keeping with our growth strategy, we continue to build land positions and drilling opportunities near our gas gathering and compression assets. Likewise, we have been expanding our gathering capacity with pipeline purchases that underlie or tie into acreage where we have current and/or proposed drilling activities. We have been extremely gratified by the success of this strategy in North and South Gillette, WY for which we are generating revenues as the operator, 50% working interest partner and as the gatherer. We look forward to similar success from this project.

PRB is an oil and gas exploration and development company operating in the Rocky Mountain states. In addition, PRB also provides gas gathering, processing and compression services on properties it operates and for third party producers.
