June 9, 2011

Supplemental Information Regarding Proposal 3:

Advisory (Non-Binding) Vote on the Compensation Paid to the Company's Named Executive Officers (Say-on-Pay Vote)

By now you should have received the Amedisys, Inc. (referred to herein as Amedisys, the Company, our or we) Notice of Annual Meeting Stockholders and Proxy Statement and our 2010 Annual Report. You can also view the Proxy Statement and our 2010 Annual Report at www.proxyvote.com.

We would like to bring to your attention a disagreement between Amedisys and Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS) with respect to ISS recommendation regarding a proposal to be voted on at Amedisys' annual meeting of stockholders to be held on June 9, 2011.

In its report, ISS recommends a vote against the recommendations of our Board of Directors and the independent Compensation Committee of our Board of Directors regarding the advisory (non-binding) vote on the compensation paid to our Named Executive Officers, which consist of our principal executive officer, our principal financial officer and our next three highest paid-executive officers at the end of our last fiscal year (December 31, 2010), as described in the Compensation Discussion and Analysis (CD&A) section of our Proxy Statement and the compensation tables and narrative disclosures following the CD&A.

It is important to note that ISS' recommendation stands in contrast to the recommendation of Glass, Lewis & Co., another leading proxy advisory firm. Glass, Lewis & Co. has recommended a vote FOR the resolution approving the advisory vote on the compensation paid to our Named Executive Officers.

As we disclosed in the CD&A, our Company's executive compensation program is designed to reward the accomplishment of business objectives and create stockholder value (i.e., pay-for-performance). Despite the fact that ISS specifically concluded in its report that a pay-for-performance misalignment is not identified at this time (emphasis added), ISS made the recommendation described above solely because the employment agreement effective January 3, 2011, for William F. Borne, our Company's Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer, contains what ISS calls a modified single-trigger severance provision. Under this provision, Mr. Borne is permitted to terminate his employment with us during a narrow 30-day window beginning 275 days (i.e., over nine months) following a change in control of the Company (as described in our Proxy Statement under the heading Named Executive Officer Employment Agreement Provisions: Potential Payments upon Termination or Change in Control). We disagree with ISS' recommendation regarding our entire compensation program because of what we believe is one relatively small element of that overall program.

For the reasons set forth below, we urge you to vote FOR the resolution approving the advisory vote on the compensation paid to our Named Executive Officers (Say on Pay).

1. ISS has based its recommendation on only one element in one employment agreement that is part of a comprehensive executive compensation program designed to align executive compensation with Company performance.

ISS indicates in its Governance Risk Indicators that multiple components of its Executive Compensation Evaluation relating to the compensation disclosures in our 2011 Proxy Statement are at a Low level of concern, including Non-Performance-Based Pay Elements, Peer Group Benchmarking and Compensation Committee Communication and Effectiveness. It identifies only one High level of concern: Severance/CIC Agreements, and ISS recommendation against our entire executive compensation program is based solely on one provision contained only in our Chairman and Chief Executive Officer's employment agreement. We disagree with this conclusion in the context of our entire executive compensation program.

Our executive compensation program includes multiple features designed to align executive compensation with stockholder interests and mitigate risks, including: (i) cash bonus and equity award claw-back and forfeiture provisions for violating certain employment agreement covenants, (ii) a prohibition on short sales of and hedging Company securities (applicable to all employees), (iii) no minimum guaranteed cash bonus payments, equity grants or base salary increases and (iv) limited perquisites, as well as other features that are widely considered best practices. In addition, effective as of January 3, 2011, none of our employment agreements with our Named Executive Officers, including the agreement with our Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, provide for the payment of any excise tax gross-up amounts in connection with a change of control.

ISS has publicly stated in its voting guidelines that it will consider modified single-triggers in executive employment contracts on a case by case basis, considering the context of a company's overall pay program and demonstrated pay-for-performance philosophy. The sole provision that ISS objects to has been a part of Mr. Borne's employment agreement since 2007.

2. Amedisys Board and Compensation Committee have valid business reasons for concluding the modified single-trigger appearing only in our Chairman and Chief Executive Officer's employment agreement is reasonable in its context.

Mr. Borne has not received a salary increase in three years. Mr. Borne's total compensation has actually decreased over the past three years. In 2010, Mr. Borne's total compensation decreased by 36.4%, as compared to his 2009 total compensation. (It should be noted that ISS stated in its report that all components of Mr. Borne's compensation fall at or below the median of a peer group selected by ISS). A renewal of Mr. Borne's employment agreement was negotiated and concluded effective January 3, 2011. As part of this process, the Compensation Committee considered prevailing public company pay practices and the advice of its independent compensation consultant, Pearl Meyer & Partners. In the context of the negotiations, Mr. Borne agreed to eliminate from his agreement provisions for the payment of any excise tax gross-up amounts in connection with a change of control. Considering Mr. Borne's contract measured against prevailing public company pay practices, the Compensation Committee believes that it was reasonable to retain the modified single-trigger severance provision in Mr. Borne's January 2011 employment agreement.

Under the terms of his agreement, in order to avail himself of the severance arrangement described above, Mr. Borne must continue his employment by our Company for at least nine months (275 days) following a change in control, and only then would he have a narrow 30-day window to decide not to continue his employment relationship. As such, this provision provides a powerful incentive for Mr. Borne to continue his employment relationship with our Company for a significant period of time following a change in control to, among other things, aid in the transition process following the transaction and to understand and discuss with the acquirer his longer-term role with the combined company going forward. Were there to be a change in control of Amedisys, Mr. Borne's institutional knowledge and executive and Board leadership experience would be valuable in ensuring a continuity of service for the home healthcare and hospice patients served by our Company, as well as a smooth transition to new ownership, which would benefit the acquirer, and thereby generate value for the selling stockholders.

We appreciate your time and consideration on these matters and ask for your support of our Board's and Compensation Committee's recommendations.

BY ORDER OF THE COMPENSATION COMMITTEE
OF THE AMEDISYS, INC. BOARD OF DIRECTORS
