On December 27, 2012, STERIS Corporation ( "STERIS" ) purchased the remaining interests held by its partner in their VTS Medical Systems, LLC joint venture. The purchase price was approximately $19 million in cash. VTS Medical Systems, LLC is headquartered in Long Island, New York and together with its predecessor has a thirty-year history as an innovator in the design and development of surgical grade monitors and operating room integration solutions for healthcare facilities. The joint venture began in fiscal 2009, and STERIS increased its ownership of the joint venture to just under 50% during fiscal 2011. With this final investment, VTS is now a wholly-owned subsidiary of STERIS, and will be integrated into STERIS' s Healthcare segment within the surgical solutions business unit.
