These forward-looking statements are intended to be covered by the safe harbor for forward-looking statements provided by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements are those that are not historical facts. These forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, the expected completion date of the proposed merger of FNB and Metro. The words look forward, continue, will, progress, committed, initiatives, expect, plan, could, should, would, believe, anticipate, and estimate and similar expressions are intended to identify forward-looking statements. Such statements involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ, possibly materially, including, without limitation, the following: the inability to complete the merger in a timely manner; the inability to complete the merger due to the failure of Metro's shareholders to approve the merger agreement and the merger, or FNB's shareholders to approve the issuance of FNB common stock in connection with the merger; the failure to satisfy other conditions to completion of the merger; the failure of the proposed merger to close for any other reason; the possibility that any of the anticipated benefits of the proposed merger will not be realized; the effect of the announcement of the merger on FNB's, Metro's or the combined company's respective business relationships, operating results and business generally; and diversion of management's attention from ongoing business operations and opportunities. In addition, you should carefully consider the risks and uncertainties and other factors that may affect future results of the combined company described in the section entitled Risk Factors in the joint proxy statement/prospectus delivered to Metro's and FNB's shareholders, and in FNB's and Metro's respective filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) that are available on the SEC's website, located at www.sec.gov, including the sections entitled Risk Factors in FNB's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2014, which was filed with the SEC on February 27, 2015, and Risk Factors in Metro's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2014, which was filed with the SEC on March 16, 2015.

Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the dates on which they are made. FNB undertakes no obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.
