Item 2.04 Triggering Events That Accelerate or Increase a Direct Financial Obligation or an Obligation Under an Off-Balance Sheet Arrangement.

Between August 7, 2007 and August 9, 2007, eight repo lenders declared events of default to have occurred in respect of alleged failures by the Company and its affiliates to post margin or repurchase financial assets under various master repurchase agreements substantially in the form of the September 1996 version of those agreements published by The Bond Market Association. As a result, the repurchase dates for reverse repo transactions by the Company and its affiliates having an aggregate repurchase price of approximately $1.6 billion, calculated as of August 9, 2007, were deemed by those repo lenders to have occurred (to the extent that their repurchase dates had not already occurred), and those repo lenders demanded immediate payment by the Company of that aggregate repurchase price.

In addition, the events of default declared under the master repurchase agreements described above caused a default to occur under the indenture relating to $90 million of the Company's 8.125% Convertible Senior Notes due 2027, in respect of which those notes may be declared to be immediately due and payable. Those events of default also caused a default to occur with respect to the asset-backed commercial paper issued by Luminent Star Funding Statutory Trust I, an affiliate of the Company, in respect of which that commercial paper has been declared to be immediately due and payable. As a result, the agent for the holders of that commercial paper has demanded immediate payment of approximately $580 million, calculated as of August 9, 2007.

Subsequent to August 9, 2007, other repo lenders may have declared events of default to have occurred in respect of alleged failures by the Company and its affiliates to post margin or repurchase financial assets under various master repurchase agreements, and the Company's obligations under those agreements may be material.
