Fannie Mae may repurchase mortgage loans from a Fannie Mae trust if it determines that there has been a material breach of representation and warranty. Fannie Mae already removed such mortgage loans from a Fannie Mae trust in accordance with the terms of the mortgage loan repurchase agreement. Fannie Mae repurchase demand may result in an actual repurchase, or may alternatively result in an indemnification of Fannie Mae against the seller of the related mortgage loans. Each such repurchase demand made by Fannie Mae against the seller of the related mortgage loans, regardless of (i) whether the mortgage asset in question is in the related Fannie Mae trust at the time of the repurchase demand, and (ii) whether the mortgage asset was in the related Fannie Mae trust at the time of the repurchase demand. Consistent with Fannie Mae's 10-K and 10-Q SEC filings, the first receipt date, as captured in Fannie Mae's records, will be used to determine the date of the repurchase demand.

The report will not include percentage calculations for most fields.¹ Because Fannie Mae routinely removes mortgage loans from the related Fannie Mae trust, such percentages would tend to overstate (and, in many cases, misstate) the percentage of mortgage loans that was the subject to a repurchase demand. Fannie Mae will provide the number of mortgage loans repurchased.

Material breaches of representations and warranties generally relate to the underwriting of a mortgage loan or (ii) servicing violations. The report includes repurchase demands for breaches of representations and warranties related to mortgage loans and servicing violations.

This report includes only those Fannie Mae mortgage securities where Fannie Mae has the right to repurchase the mortgage loans in the event of a material breach of representation and warranty. Consequently, certain Fannie Mae mortgage securities backed by Ginnie Mae securities or other securities are not included in this report.

As described above, the mortgage loans may not necessarily be in the related Fannie Mae trust at the time of the repurchase demand. Mortgage loans repurchased pending repurchase that is paid off prior to the actual repurchase will not be reflected in subsequent reports. Single-Family and Multifamily securities commingled throughout the report and Structured Products and Structured Securities governed by Rule 15Ga-1, the data will be reported at a deal-group level. As the deal-group level, the terms used in the report are defined below.

The term "Total Assets in ABS by Originator" presents, by originator, the number and issue date of mortgage loans. "originator" is the party that funded the mortgage loan in question. It is common practice in the mortgage industry for originators to originate mortgage loans to third parties, who aggregate such mortgage loans from multiple originators. Fannie Mae's relationship is with such seller rather than with the originators, Fannie Mae has not historically reported the identity of such originator (in many cases, years after issuance) would be prohibitively expensive. Consequently, where Fannie Mae is unable to identify the originator, paragraph (a)(2) of Rule 15Ga-1 not to provide the identity of such originator, but will list the identity of the seller. Fannie Mae is able to make repurchase demands in such cases, because it is generally the seller (which party is the originator) that provides the representations and warranties to Fannie Mae and who has the obligation to repurchase such mortgage loans.
