[FRANCO-NEVADA LETTERHEAD]

November 14, 2001

Dear Shareholders:

Today we announced a proposal to merge Franco-Nevada with Newmont Mining and Normandy Mining to create the number one gold company in the world. The attached information provides the highlights of this transaction. The resulting company will be:

- o #1 in gold reserves (97 million ounces)
- o #1 in gold production (8 million ounces per year)
- o #1 in leverage to gold among the majors with a "no-hedging" philosophy
- o #1 in trading liquidity
- o #1 in EBITDA

Since we co-founded Franco-Nevada in 1982, we have consistently shared the goal of maximizing shareholder value. As Franco-Nevada's largest individual shareholders, we are committed to continue doing just that. We believe in gold and this transaction will give our new company the greatest leverage to gold possible. Our new roles will be Pierre as President of the merged company and Seymour as Chairman of the merged company's Merchant Banking unit.

In the proposed transaction, Franco-Nevada shareholders will receive for each Franco-Nevada share their choice of 0.80 of a Newmont share or 0.80 Canadian exchangeable share (which will then be exchangeable for 0.80 of a Newmont share). This is intended to be a tax-free rollover for Canadian and US shareholders and the exchangeable shares will trade in Canada and are intended to qualify as Canadian property. The implied price of the deal is C$28.36 per Franco-Nevada share or 22% above yesterday's share price. We expect some temporary weakness in the stock while arbitrageurs take positions. We believe with an improvement in the gold price, Franco-Nevada's resulting share price will be substantially higher than it would be on a stand-alone basis.

Franco-Nevada shareholders initially will own approximately 32.5% of the combined company's common and exchangeable shares. On a per share basis, Franco-Nevada shares will have more than 3 times the attributable reserves and gold production. This transaction will be immediately accretive to Franco-Nevada's cash flow per share and substantially accretive to headline earnings at higher gold prices. Approximately 70% of reserves and production for the combined company will be from North America and Australia. The merged company intends to continue our policy of remaining financially strong and will adopt a "no-hedging" philosophy with respect to gold.

We expect to be sending you a management information circular for a special shareholders' meeting expected to take place early next year. Please take time to review the enclosed information and the circular that will follow. In the meantime, accept our thanks for your continued support as Franco-Nevada enters a new and exciting stage.

Sincerely,
