A new multi-year licensing deal for branded casino games continues 10 year relationship

March 17, 2010 (Dublin, IRELAND) CryptoLogic Limited, a global developer of branded online betting games and Internet casino software, has extended its long-standing relationship with William Hill PLC with a new multi-year deal to license a suite of its most popular branded casino games.

Under the new deal, CryptoLogic will license at least 10 of its top slot games including Bejeweled, Cubis, King Kong and Millionaires Club for inclusion at www.williamhill.com. Nine CryptoLogic games have already gone live with a further game expected to go live in the coming weeks.

The games are being deployed through CryptoLogic's and William Hill's technology platform provider Orbis Technology, a global platform solutions provider to the betting industry.

CryptoLogic will receive recurring revenues based on wagers placed by William Hill's customers.

Brian Hadfield, President and CEO of CryptoLogic, said: "This deal reaffirms our excellent relationship with William Hill, one of the most respected names in the gaming industry. The rapid roll out of our branded games by William Hill demonstrates the popularity of our games with their customers and the value we bring to our licensees."
