Riverview Bancorp, Inc. To Increase Its Provision For Loan Losses In Second Quarter

Vancouver, WA – September 19, 2008 – Riverview Bancorp, Inc. (NASDAQ GSM: RVSB) today announced that it expects to record a provision for loan losses of between $6.8 million to $7.3 million (pre-tax), or $0.63 to $0.68 per diluted share, during the second quarter of its fiscal year ending March 31, 2009. As a result of these actions, it currently expects the year to date provision for loan losses to be between $9.6 million and $10.1 million. This action will increase Riverview's allowance for loan losses to approximately 2.20% of total loans at September 30, 2008. After recording this increased provision for loan losses, Riverview will continue to be "well-capitalized" according to regulatory guidelines.

Riverview's decision to increase its provision for loan losses was prompted by a number of factors and was primarily a result of current economic conditions, a forward looking market assessment, as well as its methodology for determining the level of its allowance for losses and regulatory guidelines regarding impaired assets.

"While the Bank's underlying business, core fundamentals and capital levels remain strong, we believe that strengthening our allowance for loan losses is prudent in light of the continuing weakness in the residential development and housing markets as well as the overall economy," stated Pat Sheaffer, Chairman and CEO. "We are confident that taking these actions while maintaining our strong capital position will position Riverview for continued growth over the long term. We are pleased by the continued success of our core operations with net interest margin continuing to improve throughout the second quarter."

As a result of ongoing negative market conditions, Riverview further enhanced an already extensive analysis of its loan portfolio and determined a prudent increase in the range of its provision for loan losses above was warranted to balance the current and forecasted economic environment and real estate market declines. Riverview updated its detailed loan-by-loan analysis with an overall risk trend migration applied to areas of concern, primarily the land and land development categories of loans. The program of limiting land development and construction lending continues, with concentrations declining. Land development and speculative construction loans currently comprise approximately 13% and 9%, respectively, of Riverview's total loan portfolio compared to 14% and 10%, respectively at March 31, 2008. "Although our loan portfolio remains well diversified, our management team continues to closely monitor and evaluate all significant loans within our portfolio," said Sheaffer.

"Riverview's second quarter results reflect the continued unfavorable conditions in the residential real estate market, which have resulted in declining real estate valuations, and in turn have negatively impacted home builders and developers of property," stated Ron Wysaske, President and COO. "Despite these obstacles, the bulk of our non-performing assets today are concentrated in a few problem loans related to residential real estate development. In addition to the steps we are taking today with regard to our loan loss reserve, we continue to take aggressive and timely action in working with the borrowers of these loans, and expect have a positive outcome in connection with our current actions. However, given the nature of the projects related to these loans, we do not expect a resolution in the immediate future."

Non-performing assets have remained relatively unchanged with a current balance of $23.8 million, or 2.66% of total assets, compared to $23.6 million, or 2.67% of total assets, at June 30, 2008. "We continue to actively manage our nonperforming assets and we will continue to be aggressive in working with our customers to resolve these issues as quickly as possible,” said Sheaffer. “As part of this ongoing process we expect to charge off between $3.8 million and $4.4 million in loans during the second quarter. We are confident that we have the necessary processes and monitoring systems in place to identify and manage problem loans.”

Riverview does not have sub-prime residential real estate in its loan portfolio and does not believe that it has any exposure to sub-prime lending in its mortgage backed securities portfolio.

“Capital preservation and liquidity management remain top priorities for management,” said Wysaske. “Riverview continues to maintain capital levels in excess of the well-capitalized regulatory threshold and its liquidity position remains strong. In addition to our solid customer base, management has the ability to access many additional sources of liquidity, such as the sale of available for sale securities, additional borrowings from the FHLB, borrowings at correspondent banks and wholesale markets including brokered deposits.” Currently, the Bank has $200 million of additional liquidity available, or 22.3% of total assets.

The Company expects to report earnings for its second quarter ending September 30, 2008 on October 20, 2008.
