PART III NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

Dana Corporation has determined that it will be unable to file its Form 10-Q for the quarterly period ended September 30, 2005, either by the November 9, 2005 due date or by November 14, 2005, and has therefore not requested the five-day extension permitted by the SEC's rules.

As reported in the company's Form 8-K dated October 14, 2005, Dana's management and the Audit Committee of its Board of Directors have determined, as a result of their ongoing internal investigation, that the company had not properly accounted for certain items during 2004 and the first and second quarters of 2005 and that, as a result, the company will be required to restate its financial statements for those periods.

The investigation has not yet reached the point where these restatements can be completed. Until such time as the restatements are completed, Dana will not be in a position to finalize its financial statements for the quarter ended September 30, 2005, and to file the corresponding Form 10-Q.

If answer is no, identify report(s).

Yes  No

(3) Is it anticipated that any significant change in results of operations from the corresponding period for the last fiscal year will be reflected by the earnings statements to be included in the subject report or portion thereof?

Yes  No

If so, attach an explanation of the anticipated change, both narratively and quantitatively, and, if appropriate, state the reasons why a reasonable estimate of the results cannot be made.

As reported in the company's Form 8-K dated October 14, 2005, Dana's management and Audit Committee have concluded that, as it is no longer more likely than not that Dana will generate sufficient U.S.-based taxable income in the future to realize the deferred tax assets relating to its U.S. operating losses and deductible items, the company will record a non-cash charge providing a valuation allowance against those assets. This charge will affect the financial statements for the three- and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2005. The actual amount of the valuation allowance cannot be determined until the restatements of the company's 2004, first-quarter 2005 and second-quarter 2005 financial statements are completed. However, in its second-quarter 2005 Form 10-Q, Dana had reported deferred tax assets resulting from U.S. operating losses and deductible items, net of valuation allowances, totaling $741 million at June 30, 2005.

As reported in the company's Form 8-K dated October 24, 2005, Dana's Board of Directors has approved the divestiture of the company's engine hard parts, fluid products, and pump products businesses, and as a result Dana expects to incur non-cash charges of approximately $315 million before tax in 2005 to reduce the carrying value of the net assets of these businesses to realizable value. All or a significant portion of these charges will affect the company's financial statements for the three- and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2005.

Dana has not finalized its financial statements for the three- and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2005, and the financial statements for the corresponding periods in 2004 are subject to restatement. As a result, the company is unable to determine at this time whether there will be other significant changes in the results of operations in the 2005 periods from the corresponding periods in 2004.
