RESPONSE TO PART III

UTStarcom, Inc. (the Company) is unable to file its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004 (the Form 10-K) by the prescribed due date without unreasonable effort or expense due to circumstances described below. The Company seeks relief pursuant to Rule 12b-25(b) with respect to the Form 10-K.

The Company needs additional time to complete (i) the consolidation of certain financial results associated with a related party and (ii) the Company's assessment of its internal control over financial reporting under Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002.

Related Party Transaction

Edgar Filing: UTSTARCOM INC - Form NT 10-K

In the course of the preparation of its year-end 2004 financial statements, an entity which is considered a related party was identified. The Company has been evaluating whether this related party should be consolidated under US generally accepted accounting principles and specifically the guidance in FIN 46. The Company has now determined that it will likely be required to consolidate the financial results of this entity into its fiscal 2003 and 2004 financial results. The Company is assessing the potential impact to its 2003 and 2004 financial statements as a result of such consolidation.

Sarbanes-Oxley Act Section 404 Assessment

The Company is still in the process of evaluating the effectiveness of its internal control over financial reporting as required under the provisions of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002.

During the course of this review to date, management has concluded that there are control deficiencies which, either individually or in the aggregate, constitute material weaknesses in the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Such material weaknesses include: (i) the need to ensure the Company employs sufficient finance personnel with the necessary experience and technical accounting expertise, including knowledge of US generally accepted accounting principles, relative to their assigned level of responsibility; (ii) the need to ensure adequate processes and personnel exist to supervise and monitor locations outside the United States; (iii) the need for improved controls related to the existence and valuation of inventory/deferred costs and the related cost of sales, (iv) the need for improved controls related to the financial closing and reporting process, and; (v) the need to ensure adequate processes and controls exist related to the preparation of the Company's provision of income taxes.

In addition to the material weaknesses discussed above, management has identified additional control deficiencies, which may constitute material weaknesses in its internal control over financial reporting, including:

the identification and disclosure of related party transactions, and controls related to revenue recognition. Although the Company has never restated its financial statements due to errors associated with the recognition of revenue, it has identified certain control deficiencies related to the analysis of non-standard contracts as well as the collection of evidence associated with proof of delivery documentation, which in aggregate may constitute a material weakness.

Edgar Filing: UTSTARCOM INC - Form NT 10-K

Management is continuing its assessment of the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting, which may identify additional material weaknesses. Management and the Company's independent registered public accounting firm will report their findings with the filing of the Company's Form 10-K.

In light of the foregoing, the Company will not be able to file its Form 10-K by March 16, 2005. The Company expects to complete its assessment of its internal control over financial reporting and finalize its financial statements for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2004 in time to file its Form 10-K by March 31, 2005.
