Board of Trust Managers

PMC Commercial Trust

17950 Preston Rd, Suite 600

Dallas TX 75252

Att Nat Cohen and Jan Salit

Gentlemen:

As you may be aware, REIT Redux recently participated in a block trade of PMC stock sold by the Rosemore brothers which necessitated the filing of a 13-D.

We are writing today to suggest that the Board consider adding a member of our group, Joe Longbotham, as a Trust Manager to get a large shareholder's perspective in your future deliberations. Joe has had a long career in net lease properties and is active on a bank board and might be particularly helpful to the Company as it moves from studying alternatives toward executing on a path toward increasing value all the while continuing to originate new loans.

While we have been vocal in our criticism of management actions taken in the last few years at PMC by the Rosemores, they undoubtedly had "skin in the game." Now, the Board of Trust Managers now owns in aggregate 1.3% of the outstanding shares (if we read the most recent filing by Martha correctly) and could use an injection of ownership mentality, in our opinion.

This is a critical juncture for the Company given

- Continuing low levels of loan production when compared with overhead levels and the equity base
- Continuing low interest rates

Continuing low levels of earnings to provide credit line interest coverage and support a dividend that was reduced 80 cents per share from its peak in 2006

The need to rightsize either assets or overhead (given that it's 2.6% of PMC's assets and 37% of revenues vs a REIT averages of 1.0% and 8.5%)

New blood on the Board can assist in adding what we see as the appropriate sense of urgency in the key strategic decision of entering a new line or, we can only assume, in rightsizing PMC's expenses (and we'd never take a "runoff scenario" off the table in arriving at any conclusion as to the optimal decision to increase stockholder value).

Professional fees are one of our particular causes for concern. We have our own experience with REIT processes and can point out that our former company, USRP (with Enterprise Value of over $800MM), spent $1.5MM on professional fees to complete a major merger in 2005 compared with the $3.3MM that was spent in legal fees on a failed deal.

We want to make it clear that Jim Kropp suggested to Management earlier this year that PMC consider an acquisition of REIT Redux' affiliate – Microproperties LLC – a net lease restaurant acquirer, owner and asset manager as an appropriate way for PMC to enter real estate ownership. A hybrid hospitality REIT focused on small loans and properties with a solid balance sheet seems to us to represent a needed niche within the REIT investment market. Although we were never able to reach the point of opening serious discussions with you on this proposal, we still believe it's a good idea.

We acknowledge that a REIT Redux board member with an interest in Microproperties might present a conflict of interest (generally dealt with by recusal, special committees and fairness opinions, etc). Mr. Longbotham has no ownership or other affiliation, past or present (other than the joint filing agreement), with our companies and, in fact, is sometimes a competitor with Microproperties. It is for that reason that we view him as an appropriate candidate possessing the skill set that we believe is needed to assist the Trust Managers and PMC generally as it address the aforementioned key strategic decision at hand.

We enclose a copy of Mr. Longbotham's CV for your review.

Very truly yours,

REIT Redux LP
