Stockholder Derivative Action

As previously disclosed, on May 10, 2016, a stockholder derivative action (the "Derivative Action") was filed in the United States District Court for the District of Minnesota (the "Court") naming Cardiovascular Systems, Inc. (the "Company") as nominal defendant and certain of the Company's current and former executive officers and directors as defendants. The complaint alleged that these current and former executive officers and directors breached their fiduciary duties and unjustly enriched themselves by failing to oversee the Company's business, operations, and prospects, relating to the alleged off-label promotion of medical devices and alleged kickbacks to health care providers. The plaintiff, Caroline Paradis, subsequently amended her complaint on September 19, 2016.

On November 17, 2016, the parties filed with the Court a stipulated order dismissing the Derivative Action without prejudice. The stipulated order of voluntary dismissal comes after plaintiff Paradis had filed a notice of dismissal on October 19, 2016 and defendants filed a conditional opposition. Defendants had sought to have the Court impose additional restrictions on plaintiff as a condition for granting the request for dismissal. The parties then engaged in discussions and resolved the issues, with the defendants withdrawing their opposition and an agreement being reached to have the case dismissed. On November 18, 2016, the Court entered the order dismissing the action. Accordingly, the Derivative Action is no longer pending.
