Item 5. Other Events

On October 10, 2003, Oklahoma Natural Gas Company ( ONG ), a division of Tulsa-based ONEOK, Inc. (the Company), asked the Oklahoma Corporation Commission (the Commission ) to allow it to recover costs that ONG has incurred since 2000 when it assumed responsibility for its customers' service lines and enhanced its efforts to protect pipelines from corrosion. ONG also seeks to recover costs related to investment in gas in storage and rising levels of customer cost.

The application seeks a total of $24 million in additional revenue.

In the application ONG also asks the Commission to take action that allows the company to defer future costs for homeland-security related expenditures as regulatory assets for accounting treatment, meaning that there is a reasonable expectation that those expenses will be recovered in the future. In addition, the company seeks approval of a new policy that simplifies the formula for determining the cost of extending its pipelines in order to serve new customers.

The Commission will establish a procedural schedule to consider ONG's application, which will conclude, following hearings, with an order of the Commission based on its findings regarding the application.
