Opening Scroll #1

On May 14, 2014, Actavis announced the proposed Executive Leadership Team for the combined company. This team will lead the combined company following the anticipated close of the acquisition of Forest Laboratories at mid-year.

We invited members of this new management team to talk candidly about their new responsibilities. They also described their vision for the new Actavis, and how we will bring our two companies together.

Paul Bisaro,
Executive Chairman

Things sometimes present themselves that, that you can't pass up. And, when Brent and I first got together and first met for dinner, it was pretty clear, fairly quickly, that we had something to talk about.

The, the two companies were very synergistic and very similar in the way they approach things. Forest, albeit more brand, but us more generic, but together we could really create something special.

Brent Saunders,
CEO and President

When we did start speaking, we knew that we had something that strategically made sense and that, that would create a one plus one equals three situation.

But, then as we started doing some of this pre-integration activity, I think the excitement level is even gone higher on, on the possibilities in what this company can do.

Bill Meury,
Executive Vice President

You know, I've heard the term new breed of pharmaceutical company and perhaps it's a lofty term, but if you think about it, it's not a generic only company, it's not a branded specialty only company, and it's a pretty powerful organization.

Commercial, North

American Brands

Brent

To have a best in class generics business with a best in class specialty business to have a geographic footprint of 60 plus countries and all the optionality we have for future growth. Organic growth, M&A, business development, licensing, R&D, branded generic R&D, a billion dollar investment.

Bob Stewart,
Chief Operating Officer

I'm really excited about the opportunity to bring the R&D and operations group closer together. The value that we can unlock from that I think, is incredible.

When I think about what we can do between the R&D organization and operations together, we're not only going to be able to supply products and deliver products for patients and customers today, we're going to be able to develop products and continue serving patient needs for the future. So we're really combining the best of both networks.

Bill

Personally, for me, I'll be overseeing a branded division, but I'm looking forward to learning a lot more about the generic side of the business, I'm looking forward to learning a lot more about operating a business outside the United States, Brent, you have a lot of experience with that, others at the table do.

I'm also excited about managing a terrific product line. It's a product driven industry. If you have products, you thrive. If you don't, you don't live very long. And that's what excites me personally and professionally about being at Actavis.

David Buchen,

I could not be happier with my new role. I'm going to heading up the North American Generics and, and international sales effort and this is a real opportunity for me to break out.

Executive Vice President

Commercial, North

American Generics &

I think I've always seen myself as a bit of a frustrated commercial guy, leaning more toward the commercial than the legal and this, this will be a real opportunity for me. I, I will say that I'd be naïve to think that I can do this without a tremendous amount of support from the great team that I already will be inheriting and there are some fantastic people here in the United States as well as all around the world, where I'm going to rely on their support to make sure that we're a complete success.

Brent

As I've gotten to, to meet the people of Forest over the last almost year and, and the people at Actavis over the last few months, it's just an incredibly impressive group of people, to watch them do great things, to help build their careers and help them develop, is something I just take an immense pride and joy in, in watching happen and, and so, I'm very excited to see that happen in the combination.

Paul

It doesn't really, sort of, matter, at least I don't think, it matters what size you are, it matters what the, how you execute and how you perform and how you do all the things you got to do. We went from a very small organization with a few opportunities to a very large organization with a lot of opportunities. And that means more people have to execute and more people have to perform and we get to watch those people really move up to a new level and if everybody does what I think they can do, this new organization will perform at a very high level.

Actavis Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

Statements contained in this communication that refer to Actavis' estimated or anticipated future results, including estimated synergies, or other non-historical facts are forward-looking statements that reflect Actavis' current perspective of existing trends and information as of the date of this communication. Forward looking statements generally will be accompanied by words such as anticipate, believe, plan, could, should, estimate, expect, outlook, guidance, intend, may, might, will, possible, potential, predict, project, or other similar expressions. Such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements about the benefits of the Forest acquisition, including future financial and operating results, Actavis or Forest's plans, objectives, expectations and intentions and the expected timing of completion of the transaction. It is important to note that Actavis' goals and expectations are not predictions of actual performance. Actual results may differ materially from Actavis' current expectations depending upon a number of factors affecting Actavis' business, Forest's business and risks associated with acquisition transactions. These factors include, among others, the inherent uncertainty associated with financial projections; restructuring in connection with, and successful closing of, the Forest acquisition; subsequent integration of the Forest acquisition and the ability to recognize the anticipated synergies and benefits of the Forest acquisition; the ability to obtain required regulatory approvals for the transaction (including the approval of antitrust authorities necessary to complete the acquisition), the timing of obtaining such approvals and the risk that such approvals may result in the imposition of conditions that could adversely affect the combined company or the expected benefits of the transaction; the ability to obtain the requisite Forest and Actavis shareholder approvals; the risk that a condition to closing of the Forest acquisition may not be satisfied on a timely basis or at all; the failure of the proposed transaction to close for any other reason; risks relating to the value of the Actavis shares to be issued in the transaction; the anticipated size of the markets and continued demand for Actavis and Forest's products; the impact of competitive products and pricing; access to available financing (including financing for the acquisition or refinancing of Actavis or Forest debt) on a timely basis and on reasonable terms; the risks of fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates; the risks and uncertainties normally incident to the pharmaceutical industry, including product liability claims and the availability of product liability insurance on reasonable terms; the difficulty of predicting the timing or outcome of pending or future litigation or government investigations; periodic dependence on a small number of products for a material source of net revenue or income; variability of trade buying patterns; changes in generally accepted accounting principles; risks that the carrying values of assets may be negatively impacted by future events and circumstances; the timing and success of product launches; the difficulty of predicting the timing or outcome of product development efforts and regulatory agency approvals or actions, if any; market acceptance of and continued demand for Actavis' and Forest's products; costs and efforts to defend or enforce intellectual property rights; difficulties or delays in manufacturing; the availability and pricing of third party sourced products and materials; successful compliance with governmental regulations applicable to Actavis and Forest's facilities, products and/or businesses; changes in the laws and regulations affecting, among other things, pricing and reimbursement of pharmaceutical products; changes in tax laws or interpretations that could increase Actavis' consolidated tax liabilities; the loss of key senior management or scientific staff; and such other risks and uncertainties detailed in Actavis' periodic public filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including but not limited to Actavis plc's Annual Report on form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2013 and Quarterly Report on form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2014 and from time to time in Actavis' other investor communications. Except as expressly required by law, Actavis disclaims any intent or obligation to update or revise these forward-looking statements.

Forest Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This release contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements about the benefits of the acquisition of Forest by Actavis, including future financial and operating results, Forest's or Actavis' plans, objectives, expectations and intentions and the expected timing of completion of the transaction. It is important to note that Forest's goals and expectations are not predictions of actual performance. Actual results may differ materially from Forest's current expectations depending upon a number of factors affecting Forest's business, Actavis' business and risks associated with acquisition transactions. These factors include, among others, the inherent uncertainty associated with financial projections; restructuring in connection with, and successful closing of, the acquisition; subsequent integration of the companies and the ability to recognize the anticipated synergies and benefits of the acquisition; the ability to obtain required regulatory approvals for the transaction (including the approval of antitrust authorities necessary to complete the acquisition), the timing of obtaining such approvals and the risk that such approvals may result in the imposition of conditions that could adversely affect the combined company or the expected benefits of the transaction; the ability to obtain the requisite Forest and Actavis shareholder approvals; the risk that a condition to closing of the acquisition may not be satisfied on a timely basis or at all; the failure of the proposed transaction to close for any other reason; risks relating to the value of the Actavis shares to be issued in the transaction; access to available financing (including financing for the acquisition or refinancing of Forest or Actavis debt) on a timely basis and on reasonable terms; the difficulty of predicting FDA approvals, the acceptance and demand for new pharmaceutical products, the impact of competitive products and pricing, the timely development and launch of new products, and the risk factors listed from time to time in Forest Laboratories' Annual Report on Form 10-K, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q and any subsequent SEC filings. Forest assumes no obligation to update forward-looking statements contained in this release to reflect new information or future events or developments.
