The following document was provided to Chubb managers on July 6, 2015.

July 6, 2015

Dear Management Team,

As we announced last week, Chubb has agreed to be acquired by ACE Limited for a price that represents a premium of approximately 30% based on the June 30th closing prices of Chubb and ACE. This amounts to $7 billion in increased value for Chubb shareholders, including those who are Chubb employees.

As I noted in our press release announcing the acquisition, this is a compelling transaction that will combine two very successful companies with exceptional strengths in product, distribution, customer segments and underwriting cultures. This transaction was not the result of a process initiated by our Board of Directors to sell Chubb. Rather, ACE approached us with a proposal that resulted in a substantial premium to our shareholders in a transaction that has a strong business and strategic logic. The Board evaluated the proposal thoroughly, with the assistance of outside financial advisors. The Board concluded that the proposed acquisition was in the best long-term interests of Chubb's shareholders and its other constituencies and, consistent with the Board's fiduciary duties, the Board approved the transaction.

The combination of Chubb with ACE will better enable us to compete in the elite group of global P&C insurers with greater financial strength, a stronger global presence, a wider range of product offerings and the critical scale to invest in the business. The combined company will have opportunities to grow in ways that might not otherwise be available to us as separate companies. As a combined enterprise, we will also have increased financial and talent resources, data and insight that, paired with our respective skills and experience, will drive profitable new growth opportunities in more markets around the world.

Importantly, the combined company will adopt the Chubb name—a clear indication of ACE's respect for the Chubb brand and the heritage of quality and outstanding service it represents. In addition, after the transaction closes, our current Warren, New Jersey location will house a substantial portion of the headquarters function of the combined company's North American Division.

We recognize that in any transaction of this nature, there are bound to be questions about what will this mean in general for Chubb's business areas and more specifically for given groups or individuals. In this regard, it is important to note that Chubb and ACE's strengths in many areas complement each other, without significant overlap. Even where there is overlap in a particular market area, often we are focused on different segments within that market area. We believe that the complementary nature of our businesses will provide the combined company with greater growth opportunities, which in turn could lead to additional career opportunities in the combined organization.

Of course, the transaction also contemplates the achievement of cost synergies in order to make the economics of the deal work. We will work with ACE in putting together an integration team with members from both companies which will develop an integration process, and that will take some time. Nevertheless, it is important to recognize that Chubb and ACE are each meritocracies and, to the extent that jobs overlap, it is our intention that the best people will be chosen to fill these jobs.

We are committed to maintaining regular communication with all employees as we proceed toward the closing and the integration process plays out. We also are committed to ensuring that any employees that are impacted by the transaction are treated fairly.

If you have not already done so, we encourage you to organize face-to-face meetings with members of your team to discuss the transaction and the underlying rationale. A set of talking points accompanies this letter, and a set of Q&A on the transaction is being provided to all employees as well as information on compensation and benefits. If you are asked questions that you are not yet equipped to answer, please do not speculate. Simply reply that you are not in a position to respond at this time but will pass on additional information as it becomes available.

The transaction is expected to close in the first quarter of 2016. Until then, it's business as usual at Chubb, and it's important that we continue delivering the same level of service to our producers and policyholders for which Chubb is renowned.

This transaction is an important step for Chubb in a changing competitive environment. I am confident that it positions us, in combination with ACE, to drive growth and profitability for many years to come.

Sincerely,

John Finnegan
