São Paulo, August 5, 2010 GOL Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes S.A (NYSE: GOL and BM&FBOVESPA: GOLL4), (S&P/Fitch: BB-/BB-, Moody`s: Ba3), the largest low-cost and low-fare airline in Latin America, has suffered delays on its route network due to a change in the configuration of the system for processing pilot and flight attendant rosters, leading to some crew members reaching their flying-hour limit during the last weekend. Operations were back to normal as of the early hours of yesterday and the Company expects a continuous improvement in its regularity and punctuality indicators throughout the next few days.

According to official statement made today by Chairman and President of ANAC, Solange Vieira, the situation in Brazilian airports are back to normal, and on the morning of this Thursday, there were practically no delays by the Company.

The statement below, announced for the customers of the Company, was published today through the main newspapers in the country:<0}

GOL announces that its flights are back to normal and apologizes to its customers

The recent flight delays and cancellations have already been resolved. Our operations are back to normal, within the standards laid down by the National Civil Aviation Agency (ANAC). During the period of the delays, we did everything possible to minimize the problem and accommodate affected passengers on other flights, in addition to providing accommodation and meals whenever needed.

The regrettable situation was caused by a change in the system for processing flight crew rosters, but we have already implemented the necessary remedial measures. We apologize most sincerely to our clients and would like to thank all our employees for their dedication to getting our operations back to normal as quickly as possible.

Not only do we regret the inconvenience caused, but we are fully committed to redoubling our efforts to repay the trust of our customers.

We carry the highest number of passengers in Brazil and, thanks to our continuous efforts, we have also been the country's most punctual airline for some months..

On each of our 860 daily flights, we seek to provide our customers and crew with the most rigorous safety, comfort and service conditions. In 2009 and 2010, the Company was inspected by the regulatory agency in relation to excess crew workload and was approved on every occasion.

The safety of our employees and customers is part of our mission and one of our core values.
