Message from the CEO

On July 28, 2011, the Company announced a revision of its 2011 guidance due to the maintenance throughout the entire second quarter of a highly competitive scenario in which an excessive increase in Brazilian market supply led to a reduction in fares. Given that fuel costs are expected to remain at high levels and certain costs were higher than expected in 2Q11, the Company is implementing an additional cost reduction plan, focusing on ex-fuel costs.

These measures have already begun and will be fully effective throughout 2012. Once they are all in place, the Company expects to reduce expenses by around R$650 million in the latter year – CASK ex-fuel by 1.10 cents (R$), what will make the unitary cost decrease to 8.50 cents (R$), and overall CASK by 1.25 cents (R$) for 2012. These initiatives are in line with GOL's determination to keep costs appropriate with its business model while maintaining its commitment to safety and quality.

GOL keeps its financial strategy of high liquidity and an appropriate debt amortization profile, with a low refinancing risk, aiming to ensure sustainable growth. Given the implementation of these measures, the Company expects to generate appropriate returns for its shareholders again in 2012.

The Company values its franchise and strategic position in the Brazilian market and believes its business model to be the most appropriate for economic and social inclusion, breaking the cultural barriers that still exist in Brazilian air transport and exploring a market which, given its low penetration, has enormous growth potential in the coming years.

GOL remains committed to its low-cost, low-fare strategy, and will continue to work in order to maintain its position as the best airline company to fly with, work for and invest in.

Advanced Comparative Data – ANAC

In October 2010, ANAC altered its method for calculating monthly traffic information (Official Letter no. 11/2010/GEAC/SRE/ANAC) and republished the data for the periods subsequent to January 2009. All the 2010 operational data reflect the new methodology, and may not be entirely comparable to the figures disclosed at that time. According to ANAC, the changes were designed to align the data with the concepts adopted by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO). The alteration was necessary because Brazil has joined the ICAO's statistical program and supplies the latter's database with several industry data. The changes in the methodology refer to the calculation of ASK (seat supply) and the classification of domestic legs of international flights, which are now considered to be part of the domestic market. ANAC announced that it will republish the 2008 information at a later date.

Supply

The Company adopted a prudent strategy towards adding capacity in the quarter. As a result, GOL's domestic-market supply grew by 4.2% year-on-year, versus 21.6% for the other airlines ("others" in the tables above).

Supply on GOL's total route network increased by 2.9%, due to: (i) the 2.8% increase in the average fleet utilization rate (from 12.7 block hours/day in 2Q10 to 13.0 block hours/day in 2Q11); (ii) the strategy of maximizing aircraft occupation, which pushed up the load factor by 6.2 p.p.; and (iii) GOL's higher number of destinations between the periods (Montes Claros, Bridgetown and Aeroparque Jorge Newbery in Argentina). This upturn in supply was partially offset by: (a) the 1.0% reduction in the average stage length (893km, versus 902km in 2Q10); (b) the discontinuation of international charter flights and the return of three B767s; and (c) the discontinuation of flights to Bogota, Colombia.

Maintaining its prudent approach to adding capacity (in available seat-kilometers, or ASK), in 1H11 supply on GOL's domestic route network increased by only 4.7% year-on-year, versus 21.2% for the other airlines, leading to a 7.1% year-on-year decline in GOL's yields, lower than that of the industry as a whole.

Demand - Domestic Market

Industry demand increased by 26.5% over 2Q10, chiefly due to the 14.4% increase in domestic-market seat supply, which led to lower yields and pushed up domestic passenger traffic in a quarter with a seasonally smaller share of leisure passengers. In 1H11, industry demand grew by 21.5% due to the fierce competition generated by the substantial upturn in supply, as in the quarterly comparison.

GOL's demand increased by 14.2% over 2Q10, mainly due to: (i) increased competition in the domestic market, leading to a 13.8% decline in yields; and (ii) an upturn in domestic traffic due to the rerouting of international traffic to the national market caused by the restrictions on operations in the Southern Cone in June.

In comparison with 1Q11, demand fell by 10.0% due to first-quarter seasonality (school vacations and holidays), as well as the smaller number of domestic charter flights operated by the Company.

Demand – International Market

Industry demand grew by 20.7% year-on-year, chiefly due to Brazil's economic stability and the continuous appreciation of the Real against the Dollar, which fell by 11.0% in the period, encouraging the expansion of international passenger traffic. In 1H11 international demand increased by 19.0% for the same reasons.

Demand on GOL's international route network grew by 4.8% over 2Q10, chiefly due to: (i) the larger number of international destinations (Barbados and Aeroparque/Buenos Aires); and (ii) joint operations with travel agencies to sell blocks of aircraft seats in order to attract more leisure travelers. The increase was partially offset by the operational restrictions caused by the Chilean volcano Puyehue in the entire Southern Cone region, the decision to discontinue international charter flights and the return of three B767s in the quarter.

In comparison with 1Q11, demand dropped by 29.2% due to: (i) first-quarter seasonality; (ii) the operational restrictions in the Southern Cone in June; (iii) the termination of charter flights in 2Q11; and (iv) the return of three B767s. International market performance was positively impacted by the increase in leisure passengers due to the 4.3% appreciation of the Real against the Dollar.

Load Factor and Yields

As a result of the factors described above, the load factor on GOL's route network reached 66.5% in 2Q11, 6.2 p.p. up on the 60.4% reported in 2Q10 and 5.8 p.p. down on the 72.3% posted in 1Q11.

In the first half, the Company recorded a load factor of 69.5% in its total network, 4.2 p.p. higher than in 1H10. GOL's total demand moved up by 11.4%, while supply grew by 4.7%. Consequently, the Company was able to make more efficient use of its fleet, both in term of increased productivity (13.2 block-hours per day, versus 12.8 block-hours in 1H10) and a higher occupation rate.

Yields fell by 13.8% over 2Q10, chiefly due to the 14.4% upturn in the industry's domestic supply (21.6% excluding GOL). In comparison with 1Q11, yields recorded an 8.2% decline, also due to the tighter competition in the domestic market, exemplified by the 0.5% increase in supply excluding GOL in a quarter seasonally weaker than the first three months.

2. Basis of preparation and summary of significant accounting policies

The authorization for issue of this interim consolidated financial statements occurred in the Board of Directors' meeting on March 26, 2012. The registered office is located at Rua Tamoios, 246, Jd. Aeroporto, São Paulo, Brazil.

2.1 Basis of preparation

The quarterly interim consolidated financial statements were prepared for the period ended on June 30, 2011 in accordance with International Accounting Standards (IAS) no. 34, related to consolidated interim financial statements, as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) and technical pronouncement CPC 21 – Demonstração Intermediária (Interim Financial Reporting).

IAS 34 requires the use of certain accounting estimates by the Company Management. The interim consolidated financial statements were prepared based on historical cost, except for certain financial assets and liabilities, which are measured at fair value.

These interim consolidated financial statements do not include all the information and disclosure items required in the consolidated annual financial statements. Therefore, they must be read together with the consolidated financial statements referring the year ended December 31, 2010, and filed on February 22, 2011, which were prepared according to International Financial Reporting Standards – IFRS. There was no changes in accounting policies adopted on December 31, 2010.

Some items of the Balance Sheet for the year ended December 31, 2010, presented for comparative purposes, were reclassified for adequacy and consistency with the period ended June 30, 2011.

2.2 Restatement by correction of error

In April of 2011, the Company concluded the implementation of the new revenue recognition module (ARACS) to complement the current reservations system - New Skies. In connection with this implementation, the Company has identified a difference at the deferred revenue balance in relation to the historical amounts recognized in the financial statements. The total quantified error, which was initially recognized in the profit or loss of the first quarter of 2011 as a reduction of revenue, amounted to R$56,760 (R$37,462 net of taxes), and was associated with the recognition of interline revenues.

The Company interline ticket sales represent sales from the Company to other airline entities under interline agreements. In accordance with these agreements an airline entity can use the Company's reservation system to book domestic flights in Brazil by paying a predetermined contractual price. Before implementing the new system, interline deferred revenue was recognized in accordance with the contractual price. However, the recognition of passenger's revenue was based on the spot ticket price. Consequently, the difference could represent either an overstatement or an understatement of revenues, depending on the difference between the contractual interline price and the spot price.

In 2008 the Company initiated the interline transactions and since then the volume of these transactions have been increasing year after year. However, due to certain system limitations of the reservation system related to the inability to reprocess historical data, the Company is unable to allocate this error to the periods which they have occurred, which are the years ended December 31, 2008, 2009 and 2010 and the first quarter of 2011. After the first quarter of 2011 this system deficiency has been remediated with the conclusion of the new revenue recognition system implementation.

After further considerations, the Company has concluded that the most appropriate way to reflect this adjustment was in the opening balance of the retained earnings as of January 1st, 2011, pursuant to paragraph 44 of CVM Deliberation 592/09 "Políticas Contábeis, Mudança de Estimativa e Retificação de Erro" and IAS 8, "Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors".

11. Deposits

Maintenance deposits

Under certain existing lease agreements, maintenance deposits are paid to aircraft and engine lessors that are to be applied to future aircraft maintenance. The maintenance deposits paid under lease agreements exempt neither the obligation to maintain the aircraft nor the cost risk associated with the maintenance activities of the aircraft lessor. The Company maintains the right to select any third-part maintenance provider or to perform such services in-house.

These deposits are calculated based on a performance measure, such as flight hours or cycles, and are available for reimbursement to the Company upon the completion of the maintenance of the lease aircraft. Therefore, these amounts are recorded as a deposit on the balance sheet and maintenance cost is recognized when the underlying maintenance is performed, in accordance with an accounting maintenance policy. Certain lease agreements provide that the excess deposits are not refundable to the Company. Such excess could occur if the amounts ultimately expended for the maintenance events were less than the amounts deposited. Any excess amounts held by lessor or retained by the lessor upon the expiration of the lease, which are not expected to be significant, would be recognized as additional aircraft rental expense.

On June 30, 2011, the Company changed the classification of maintenance deposits from non-monetary to monetary asset, as the transactions of these assets, since 2011 occurred substantially through receipts of financial funds, according to the renegotiations conducted with the lessors, recognized in the period of six month ended June 30, 2011 the amount of R$ 76,548 as exchange variation expense.

13. Earnings or losses per share

Although, there are differences in voting rights and liquidation preferences, the Company's preferred shares are not entitled to receive any fixed dividends. Rather, the preferred shareholders have identical rights to earnings and are entitled to receive dividends per share in the same amount of the dividends per share paid to holders of the common shares. Therefore, the Company understands that, substantially, there is no difference between preferred shares and common shares and the basic earnings or losses per share calculation should be the same for both shares.

Consequently, basic earnings or losses per share are computed by dividing income or losses by the weighted average number of all classes of shares outstanding during the period. The diluted earnings or losses per share are computed including dilutive potential shares from the executive employee stock options using the treasury-stock method when the effect is dilutive. The effect anti-dilutive potential shares are disconsidered in calculating dilutive earnings or losses per share.

Diluted losses per share	(1.32)	(0.19)	(1.07)	(0.11)

On June 30, 2011, the diluted earnings or losses per share was calculated by considering the instruments that may have potential dilutive effect in the future. On June 30, 2011 the exercise price of vested stock options of the 2009 and 2010 plans are lower than the average market quotation of the period (in the money). The 2009 plan is in the money even when the vesting stock options expenses are included in the strike price that will incur, of the “vesting” option. However due to the loss reported for the six months ended June 30, 2011 and 2010, these shares have anti-dilutive effect and therefore are not considered in the total number of shares outstanding.

The commitments for purchase of aircrafts include estimations for contractual price increases during the construction phase. The approximate value for firm orders, not considering the contractual discounts is R$13,825,959 (corresponding to US$8,856,549) and are aggregated according the following periods:

2011	693,338
2012	745,752
2013	2,445,750
2014	3,613,449
2015	3,112,659
After 2015	3,215,011
	13,825,959

On June 30, 2011, from the commitments mentioned above, the Company had the amount of R$1,780,553, as advances for aircraft purchase, to be disbursed according to the following periods:

	30/06/11

2014	417,760
2015	338,814
After 2015	84,277
	1,780,554

The installment financed by long-term debt, guaranteed by the aircrafts, by the U.S. Ex-Im Bank ("Exim") corresponds approximately to 85% of total cost of the aircrafts. Other agents finance the acquisitions with percentages equal or above this percentage, reaching up to 100%.

The Company is making payments related to the acquisitions of aircrafts by using its own funds, loans, cash generated in operations, short- and medium-term credit lines, and financing from the supplier.

The Company leases its entire fleet of aircrafts under a combination of operating and finance leases. On June 30,2011, the total fleet was comprised by 121 aircrafts, including 80 operational leasing and 41 registered as financial leasing. The Company has 35 aircrafts with financial leasing with purchase option. During the three months period ended on June 30,2011 the Company received 2 aircrafts classified as finance lease and returned 4 aircraft 737-300 to the lessors.

b) Sale-leaseback transactions

On June 30, 2011 the Company had amounts of R$7,564 and R$19,713, respectively, reported on “other obligations” in current and non-current liabilities (R$7,564 and R$23,495 on December 31,2010), related to gains with sale-leaseback transactions made by its subsidiary GAC Inc. in 2006, related to eight 737-800 Next Generation aircrafts. This gain is being deferred proportionally to the monthly payments of the respective leasing contracts according to the contractual term of 124 months.

On this same date, the Company had amounts of R$9,373 and R$49,515 reported on “prepaid expenses” on current and non-current assets, respectively (R$9,373 and R$54,201 on December 31,2010), related to losses with sale-leaseback transactions made by its subsidiary GAC Inc. during the years of 2007, 2008 and 2009, related to nine aircrafts. These losses are being deferred and amortized proportionally to the monthly payments of the respective leasing contracts according to the contractual term of 120 months.

Additionally, on the six month period ended June 30, 2011, the Company recorded a gain of R$7,356 recognized directly in income, due to non-compensation of gain and losses on sale-leaseback transactions along the contract lease.

26. Financial instruments

The Company has financial assets and liabilities operations which are partially composed of derivative financial instruments.

The financial derivative instruments are used aiming the hedging against the inherent risks to the operation. The Company and its subsidiaries consider fuel price, exchange rate, interest rate as the most relevant risks, as well as the credit risk associated with its operations. These risks are mitigated by using exchange swap derivatives, U.S. dollar futures contracts and oil, U.S. dollar and interest options.

The Management conducts a formal guideline when administering its financial instruments, observing the Risk Management Policy which is periodically defined by the Financial Policies and Risk Committee, submitted to the Board of Directors. The Committee sets forth the guidelines and limits, monitors controls, including the mathematical models adopted for a continuous monitoring of exposures and eventual financial effects and also prevents the execution of financial instruments speculative operations. For the six month period ended June 30, 2011, the management, based on a future economic scenario, increased the protections for the Company's positions by contracting derivative instruments

The earnings from these operations and the application of risk management controls are included in the Committee's monitoring and these have been satisfactory to the objectives proposed.

The fair values of financial assets and liabilities of the Company are established through information available on the market and according to valuation methodologies.

Most of the financial instruments with the purpose of protection against fuel and exchange rate risks provide scenarios with low probability of occurrence, and thus have lower costs when compared with other instruments with higher probability of occurrence. Consequently, in spite of the high correlation between the object protected and the derivative financial instruments contracted, a significant part of the operations provides ineffective results upon their liquidation, which are presented on the tables along this note.

The breakdown of the consolidated accounting balances and the categories of financial instruments included in the balance sheet as of June 30, 2011 and December 31, 2010 is identified below:

(b) From the balance classified on financial investments, the amount of R$139,280 is considered as investments held to maturity.

Risks

The operating activities expose the Company to the following financial risks: market (including exchange risk, interest rate risk and fuel price risk), credit and liquidity risks. The Company's risk management program aims at mitigating potential adverse effects of operations on its financial performance.

The Company's decisions on the portion of its exposure to be hedged against financial risk, both for fuel consumption and for exchange and interest rate exposures, consider the risks and hedge costs. The Company does not usually contracts hedging instruments for the whole of its exposure, and thus is subject to the portion of risks resulting from market variations. The portion of exposure to be protected is determined and reviewed quarterly in compliance with the strategies determined in the Risk Policies Committees.

The relevant information relating to the main risks that affect the Company operations are detailed as follows:

a) Fuel price risk

On June 30, 2011 fuel expenses accounted for 39.2% of costs of service, administrative and commercial expenses. The aircraft fuel price fluctuates both in the short and in the long terms, in line with crude oil and by products price variations.

In order to mitigate the fuel price risk, the Company contracts crude oil derivatives and possibly its byproducts. On June 30,2011 the Company used option, collar and swap agreements.

Fuel hedge operations, classified as cash flow hedges are contracted with counterparties classified as "investment grade" or they are executed at NYMEX.

b) Exchange rate risk

The exchange rate risk derives from the possibility of unfavorable fluctuation of foreign currencies to which the liabilities or the Company's cash flows are exposed. The Company's exposure to the foreign currency risk mainly derives from foreign currency-denominated leasing and financing.

The Company's revenues are mainly denominated in Reais, except for a small amount in U.S. dollars, Argentinean pesos, Bolivian bolivianos, Chilean peso, Colombian peso, Paraguay guarani, Uruguayan peso, Venezuela bolívar among others.

In order to mitigate the exchange rate risk, the Company contracts the following currency derivatives: U.S. dollar futures and options at BM&F-BOVESPA. These operations may be executed by means of exclusive investment funds, as described in the Company's Risk Management Policy.

Below, the Company's foreign exchange exposure on June 30,2011 and December 31, 2010:

c) Credit risk

The credit risk is inherent in the Company's operational and financial activities, mainly represented by accounts receivable, cash and cash equivalents, including bank deposits.

The "accounts receivable" credit risk is composed of amounts falling due to largest credit card operators, with better or equal credit risk to the Company and also accounts receivable from travel agencies, installment sales and government, with a small portion exposed to risks from individuals or other entities.

As defined in the Risk Management Policy, the Company is required to assess the counterparties risks in financial instruments and diversify the exposure. Financial instruments are executed with counterparties with at least rating "investment grade" in the valuation made by S&P and Moodys agencies, or they are mostly contracted at commodities and futures exchange (BM&FBOVESPA and NYMEX), fact which substantially mitigates the credit risk. The Company's Risk Management Policy establishes a maximum limit of 20% per counterparty for financial investments.

d) Interest rate risk

The Company is exposed to fluctuations in domestic and international interest rates, particularly the CDI and Libor, respectively. The highest exposure is in leasing expenses, indexed to the Libor, and in domestic loans.

In the six months period ended June 30,2011, for interest rate hedge, the Company holds swap operations contracted with counterparties classified as "investment grade".

e) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk comes in two distinct forms: market liquidity risk and cash flow liquidity risk. The first is related to current market prices and varies in accordance with the types of assets and the markets where they are traded. Cash flow liquidity risk, however, is related to difficulties in meeting the contracted operational obligations on the agreed dates.

As a way of managing liquidity risk, the Company applies its resources in liquid assets (bonds, CDBs and investment funds with daily liquidity) and Cash Management Policy provides that the Company's weighted average maturity of debt should not exceed the weighted average maturity of investment portfolio. On June 30, 2011, the weighted average maturity of the Company's financial assets was 6 days and the financial liability was 6 years.

For protection of future commitments, as shown in note 25, the Company uses derivative financial instruments with top line banks for cash management.

f) Capital management

The table below shows the financial leverage rate on June 30,2011 and December 31, 2010:

	06/30/11	12/31/10
Shareholder's equity	2,604,649	2,929,169

Total capital(b)	4,571,028	4,657,293

Additionally, the Company remains committed to keep the amount of cash and cash equivalent close to 25% of the net revenue of the last twelve months, as done on June 30, 2011.

Derivative financial instruments

The financial derivatives instruments were registered in the following accounts of the balance sheet:

Description	Balance account	06/30/11	12/31/10
Gain on derivatives operation (assets)	Other credits	1,719	10,420
Loss on derivatives operation (liabilities)	Other obligations	61,989	1,646
Premiums of options contracts (assets)	Prepaid expenses	31,536	23,334

The Company adopts Hedge Accounting and classifies derivatives contracted to cover exchange variation risks and fuel price risk as a "Cash Flow Hedge" or "Fair Value Hedge," according to the parameters described in Brazilian account standard CPC 38. All the financial instruments contracted are formally identified, classified and allocated by documentation and control upon the acquisition, as follows:

Classification of Derivatives Financial Instruments

i) Cash flow hedge

In the cash flow hedge, the Company protects itself from variations in future revenues or expenses resulting from changes in the exchange rate or fuel price and books the actual variations at the fair value of the derivative financial instruments under shareholders' equity until the recognition of the revenue or expense being hedged.

The Company estimates the effectiveness based on statistical methods for correlation and the ratio between gains and losses in the financial instruments used as hedge and variation of costs and expenses of the protected object.

The instruments are recognized as effective when the variation in the value of derivatives offsets between 80% and 125% of the impact of the price variation in the cost or expense of the protected object.

The balance of the effective variations in the fair value of the derivatives designated as cash flow hedges is transferred from shareholders' equity to the result in the period in which the cost or expense being hedged impacts the result. The cash flow hedge results effective in the contention of protected expense variation are recorded reducing accounts of the protected expenses, by reducing or increasing the operating cost, and the non-effective results are recognized as financial income or expense within the year.

ii) Fair Value Hedge

The Company protects itself from the result of a change in the fair value of a recognized liability, or a part thereof, which that could be attributed to exchange risk. Variations in the fair value of the derivatives designated as fair value hedges are recognized directly in the income statement together with the respective variations in the fair value of the liability being hedged.

The Company estimates the effectiveness based on the ratio between the variation in the fair value of the derivative instruments used as hedge and the variation in the fair value of the liabilities hedged.

The instruments are considered effective when the variation in the value of derivatives compensates for between 80% and 125% of the fair value of liabilities hedged.

In the case of an exchange hedge of the fair value of a financial liability, the variation in the derivative's fair value is recorded under financial revenue or expense in the same period in which it occurs. If the hedge is considered effective up to the end of the period, the book value of the item being hedged is adjusted to reflect the variation in its fair value caused by the risk covered, with a corresponding entry in financial revenue or expenses.

Derivatives financial instruments not designated as hedge

The Company contracts derivative financial instruments that are not formally designated for accounting of protection. These situations occur when transactions are in short-term, and the complexity of control and disclosure has not viability, or when the change in derivative fair value must be recognized in profit and loss in the same period of the effects of the protected risk.

Designation of hedge' objects

a) Fuel hedge

Due to the low liquidity of aviation fuel (Jet Fuel) derivatives traded in commodities exchange, the Company contracts crude oil derivatives (WTI – West Texas Intermediate, Brent and Heating Oil) to be protected against the oscillations in the aviation fuel prices. Historically, the petroleum prices are highly correlated with the aviation fuel prices.

On June 30, 2011, the Company has fuel hedge derivative contracts performed at Nymex and over-the-counter (OTC) markets.

The contracts for derivative financial instruments of petroleum, designated as fuel hedge by the Company, are summarized below (in thousands, except when otherwise indicated):

Analysis of derivative financial instruments sensitivity

The sensitivity analysis of derivative financial instruments to the fluctuation of the mainly risk factor of each one considered the elements below:

- The probable scenario is defined as the one expected by the Company Management, in line with the market value, used to the calculation of fair value of the financial instruments.
 - The possible adverse scenario considers deterioration of 25% in the major determining variation of the fair value for the financial instrument.
 - The remote adverse scenario considers deterioration of 50% in the major determining variation of the fair value for the financial instrument.

The tables below demonstrates the sensitivity analysis for the market risks and financial instruments considered relevant by the Company Management, open on June 30,2011 based on scenarios described above:

I) Fuel derivative instruments

Operation	Risk	Probable Scenario	Probable Adverse Scenario	Remote Adverse Scenario
Fuel	Decrease of WTI (NYMEX) price curve	US$ 96.29/bbl R$ 0	US$ 72.22/bbl (R$ 28,560)	US$ 48.14/bbl (R$ 50,080)
Fuel	Decrease of HO (NYMEX) price curve	US$ 2.98/bbl R$ 0	US$ 2.23/bbl (R$ 44,465)	US$ 1.49/bbl (R$ 95,037)
Fuel	Decrease of Brent (NYMEX) price curve	US$ 113.90/bbl R$ 0	US$ 85.43/bbl (R$ 12,677)	US$ 56.95/bbl (R$ 13,845)

On June 30, 2011, the Company holds call options contracts to buy oil West Texas Intermediate ("WTI"), Brent and Heating Oil representing a notional amount of 5,872 million of barrels. These contracts have maturities between July 2011 and July 2012.

These instruments are recorded reducing fuel costs, if measured as effective, or recorded as financial income, if measured as ineffective.

In the probable scenario, according to management, the contracts totalize a fair value of R$5,567 (as described in the chart of fuel hedge designation), used to the calculation of the adverse scenarios above. In the possible adverse scenario for this instrument, with reduction of oil prices of 25%, and in the remote adverse scenario, where the price could decrease 50%, there would be negative impacts on the fair value of R$85,702 and R$158,962, respectively.

II) Foreign exchange derivative instruments

Operation	Risk	Probable Scenario	Probable Adverse Scenario	Remote Adverse Scenario
Dollar	Decrease of Dollar (BM&F) curve	R$ 1.5611/US$ R$ 0	R$ 1.1708/US$ (R$ 72,369)	R$ 0.7806/US$ (R$ 144,485)

On June 30, 2011, the Company holds derivative dollar contracts in the notional value of US$9,921 with maturity date in July 2011 and March 2012.

Management estimates a probably scenario for the exchange rate of R$1.5611/US$ and for the adverse scenarios possible and remote, rates of R$1.1708 and R$0.7806 respectively. The losses in the estimated fair values for these scenarios are R$72,369 and R$144,485 respectively.

III) Interest rate derivative instruments

Operation	Risk	Probable Scenario	Probable Adverse Scenario	Remote Adverse Scenario
Libor	Decrease of Libor rate	3.22% R$ 0	2.41% (R$ 29,889)	1.61% (R$ 59,777)

On June 30, 2011, the Company holds interest rate swap contracts of Libor in the notional amount of R$22,792.

Management estimates a probable scenario for the interest rate of 3.22% and for the adverse scenarios, possible and remote, rates of 2.41% and 1.61% respectively. The losses in the estimated fair values for these scenarios are R$29,889 and R$59,777 respectively.

IV) Other financial instruments

Operation	Risk	Probable Scenario	Possible Adverse Scenario	Remote Adverse Scenario
Investments in Dólar	Decrease of Dollar (BM&F) curve	R$ 1.5611/US$ R$ 0	R$ 1.1708/US$ (R$ 69.472)	R$ 0.7806/US$ (R$ 138,945)
Debt in Dólar	Increase of Dollar (BM&F) curve	R$ 1.5611/US$ R$ 0	R$ 1,9514/US$ (R$ 757,760)	R$ 2.3417/US$ (R$ 1,515,119)

On June 30, 2011, the Company holds assets and liabilities indexed to the dollar, totaling US$1,438,419 in foreign exchange exposure, equivalent to R$2,245,516.

In the adverse possible scenario, increase of dollar curve to R$1.9514, increasing the exposure to R$688,087. In the remote risk scenario, increase of dollar curve to R$2.3417, increasing the exposure to R$1,376,175.

Part of the debt is secured with derivatives instruments, considering the same scenarios, possible and remote, the Company would earn gains in the fair value of derivative instruments of R$72,116 and R$144,233 respectively.

Regarding to the liabilities in national currency, 89% are indexed to changes in the daily rate of CDI-Cetip and the rest, TJLP and IPCA. As the Company's cash is also indexed to the CDI-Cetip and has higher value than the debt, the Company believes that the sensitivity analysis of this risk does not add relevant information.

Regarding to the interest rate on dollar-indexed liabilities, 97% have fixed rate and the remainder relates to 3-month Libor. In actual current level of Libor, less than 0.5% per year, the Company believes that the sensitivity analysis of this risk does not add relevant information.

IFRS

Besides the sensitive analysis based on the above mentioned standards, an analysis on the impact of the financial instrument quotation variation on the Company result and its shareholders' equity is performed by considering:

- Increase and decrease of 10 percentage points in fuel prices, by keeping constant all the other variables;
 - Increase and decrease of 10 percentage points in dollar exchange rate, by keeping constant all the other variables;
 - Increase and decrease of 10 percentage points in Libor interest rate, by keeping constant all the other variables;

The sensitivity analysis includes only monetary items that are relevant to the above mentioned risks and outstanding. A positive number indicates an increase in income and equity when the risk appreciates by 10%.

The table below demonstrates the sensitivity analysis by the Company Management, on June 30, 2011 and 2010, based on the scenarios described above:

Fuel:

Increase / (reduction) in fuel prices (percentage)	Position on June 30, 2011		Position on June 30, 2010

		(R$ million)		(R$ million)
10	-	6.1	(0.01)	(0.19)
(10)	-	(6.1)	0.01	0.21

The Company's sensitivity to fuel price increased during the current period when compared with the previous period, due to the growth in operating activities and increase of fuel price, which impacted on fuel expenses.

Sensitivity to the dollar increased in relation to the effect on income and in relation to the effect on shareholders' equity, due to increase of expenses linked to the dollar.

Regarding to the Libor, the sensitivity increased in relation to the effect on shareholders' equity, due to the increase in notional amount of protection.

c) Level 3: Fair value measurements are calculated based on valuation methods that include the asset or liability but that are not based on observable market variables (unobservable inputs).

REPORT ON REVIEW OF INTERIM FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of Gol Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes S.A.

São Paulo - SP

Introduction

We have reviewed the accompanying consolidated interim financial information of Gol Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes S.A. and its subsidiaries, included in the Interim Financial Information Form (ITR), for the quarter ended June 30, 2011, which comprises the balance sheet as of June 30, 2011 and the related income statement and statement of comprehensive income for the quarter and six-month period then ended and statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows for the six-month period then ended, including the explanatory notes.

Management is responsible for the preparation of the consolidated interim financial information in accordance with technical pronouncement CPC 21 - Interim Financial Reporting and IAS 34 - Interim Financial Reporting, issued by the International Accounting Standards Board - IASB, as well as for the presentation of such information in accordance with the standards issued by the Brazilian Securities Commission (CVM), applicable to the preparation of Interim Financial Information (ITR). Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on this interim financial information based on our review.

Scope of review

We conducted our review in accordance with Brazilian and international standards on review of interim financial information (NBC TR 2410 and ISRE 2410 - Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity, respectively). A review of interim financial information consists of making inquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with the standards on auditing and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Conclusion on the consolidated interim financial information

Based on our review, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the accompanying consolidated interim financial information included in the ITR referred to above is not prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with technical pronouncement CPC 21 and IAS 34, applicable to the preparation of Interim Financial Information (ITR), and presented in accordance with the standards issued by the CVM.

Notes to the Interim Consolidated Financial Statements

Other matters

Interim statements of value added

We also have reviewed the consolidated interim statements of value added (“DVA”), for the six-month period ended June 30, 2011, prepared under the responsibility of its Management, the presentation of which is required by the standards issued by CVM, applicable to the preparation of Interim Financial Information (ITR), and is considered as supplemental information for International Financial Reporting Standards - IFRS that do not require the presentation of DVA. These statements were subject to the same review procedures described above and, based on our review, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that they are not prepared, in all material respects, in relation to the consolidated interim financial information taken as a whole.

Restatement of interim financial statements

As described in note 2.2, the Company decided to restate the interim financial statements, relating to the three and six-month periods ended June 30, 2011, originally dated August 11, 2011. The purpose of the restatement is to adjust the opening retained earnings balance as of January 1, 2011, by the amounts originally recognized in the income statement for the three-month period ended March 31, 2011. The adjustment was identified after the Company concluded the implementation of a complementary revenue recognition system. The opening retained earnings as of January 1, 2011 was adjusted in accordance with paragraph 44 of CVM Deliberation 592, issued on September 15, 2009, due to certain system limitations that prevent the Company from allocating this error to the appropriate periods. The impacts are presented in the above mentioned note.
