PHOENIX TECHNOLOGIES LTD.
NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (UNAUDITED)

NOTE 1. DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Phoenix Technologies Ltd. (together with its subsidiaries, "Phoenix" or the "Company") is a global leader in system-enabling software solutions for PCs and connected digital devices. Its software provides compatibility, connectivity, security and manageability of the various components and technologies used in such devices. Phoenix provides these products primarily to platform and peripheral manufacturers (collectively, "OEMs") that range from large PC manufacturers to small system integrators. Phoenix also provides training, consulting, maintenance and engineering services to its customers. It markets and licenses its products and services primarily through a direct sales force, as well as through regional distributors and sales representatives. The Company has three business units (one of which, inSilicon Corporation ("inSilicon"), is a majority-owned subsidiary), each of which delivers leading products and professional services that enable connected computing.

NOTE 2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements as of March 31, 2001 and for the three and six-months ended March 31, 2001 and 2000 have been prepared by the Company, without audit, pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"). All intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated. Certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles have been condensed or omitted pursuant to such rules and regulations. The condensed consolidated balance sheet as of September 30, 2000 was derived from audited financial statements, but does not include all disclosures required by generally accepted accounting principles. These condensed consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the Company's audited consolidated financial statements and notes thereto included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2000.

In the opinion of management, the accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements reflect all adjustments (consisting only of normal recurring adjustments) necessary to summarize fairly the Company's financial position, results of operations and cash flows for the interim periods presented. The operating results for the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2001 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2001, or for any other future period.

Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share is computed using the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during each period. Diluted earnings per share is computed using the weighted-average number of common and dilutive common-equivalent shares outstanding during the period. Dilutive common-equivalent shares primarily consist of employee stock options, computed using the treasury stock method. The Company reported net loss for the three months ended March 31, 2001, the effects of outstanding options and warrant were not considered when calculating diluted net loss per share, as their inclusion would be anti-dilutive.

Reclassifications

Certain prior year amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current year presentation.

New Accounting Pronouncements

In the first quarter of fiscal year 2001, the Company adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 133 ("SFAS 133"), "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities", which establish accounting and reporting standards for derivative instruments and for hedging activities. The Company does not hold any derivative financial instrument and does not engage in hedging activities. Accordingly, the adoption of SFAS 133 does not have an impact on the Company's financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

NOTE 3. PURCHASE COMBINATIONS

During the first six months of fiscal 2001, the Company completed a number of purchase acquisitions, which were accounted for as purchases. The amount allocated to goodwill and purchased intangible assets are amortized on a straight-line basis over periods not exceeding six years. The following is a summary of purchased transactions completed in fiscal 2001 (in millions):

Acquired Company	Total Purchase Consideration	Net Tangible Assets	Goodwill and Purchased Intangibles	Form of Consideration
By Phoenix:
Integrity Sciences, Inc.	$ 3.8	$	3.8	$2.5 in cash and the balance in the Company's shares
Ravisent Technologies, Inc.	$ 17.8	$ 0.4	$ 17.4	$17.8 in cash
By inSilicon:
Xentec, Inc.	$ 11.8	$ 0.3	$ 11.6	$2.9 in cash and the balance in inSilicon shares and options
HD Lab, K.K.	$ 1.6	$	1.6	$1.6 in cash

The following unaudited, pro forma information shows the results of operations of the Company for the six month periods ended March 31, 2001 and 2000, as if the above acquisitions had occurred at the beginning of the period and at the purchase costs established at the time of acquisition.

NOTE 6. SEGMENT REPORTING

Segment information is presented in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 131 ("SFAS 131"), "Disclosures about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information." This standard requires segmentation based upon the Company's internal organization and disclosure of revenue and operating income based upon internal accounting methods. The Company has three reportable segments: Platform Enabling, inSilicon and PhoenixNet .

Platform Enabling: Provides system-enabling software that is used in the design, deployment and ongoing operation of personal computers, Internet appliances, embedded systems, and other connected devices. The platform Enabling's flagship software products provide support for current technologies and industry standards, allowing systems and device manufacturers to base new product designs on a range of microprocessors, chipsets and operating systems combinations.

inSilicon: Provides communications technology that is used by semiconductor and systems companies to design complex semiconductors called systems-on-a-chip that are critical components of digital devices. inSilicon provides cores, related silicon subsystems and firmware to customers that use its technologies in hundreds of different digital devices ranging from network routers to cellular phones.

PhoenixNet : Provides security infrastructure that offers practical solutions to secure network access through strong password technology and easy-to-deploy device authentication.

NOTE 7. STOCK REPURCHASE PROGRAM

During the quarter ended December 31, 2000, the Company repurchased 1,028,400 shares of its common stock at a cost of $15.9 million, under a program that was authorized by the Board of Directors in fiscal 2000. As of December 31, 2000, the fiscal 2000 repurchase program was completed and terminated.

In February 2001, the Board of Directors authorized an additional program to repurchase up to $30 million of outstanding shares of common stock over a 12-month period. No repurchase of shares have been made under this authorization as of March 31, 2001. Also, in February, the Company repurchased from Intel Corporation an outstanding warrant during fiscal 2001 to purchase 1,073,965 shares of Phoenix Technologies common stock for approximately $2.9 million.

NOTE 8. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Workforce Reduction

In April 2001, the Company approved a plan to reduce its global workforce by approximately 10%. As a result of this workforce reduction, the Company expects to incur a charge to operations of approximately $2.0 million in the third quarter of fiscal 2001.

inSilicon

In April 2001, the Company announced its decision to seek strategic alternatives with respect of its investment in inSilicon.

ITEM 2. MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

This Report on Form 10-Q, including without limitation the Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations, contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Exchange Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21 (E) of the Securities Exchange Act 1934, as amended. These statements include, but are not limited to, statements concerning increases in research and development activities, future liquidity and financing requirements, expected price erosion, plans to make acquisitions, dispositions or strategic investments, expectation of increased sales to original equipment manufacturers, and plans to improve and enhance existing products and develop new products.

These forward-looking statements of the Company are subject to risks and uncertainties. Some of the factors that could cause future results to materially differ from the recent results or those projected in the forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, significant increases or decreases in demand for Phoenix's products, increased competition, lower prices and margins, failure to successfully develop and market new product and technologies, competitor introductions of superior products, continued industry consolidation, instability and currency fluctuations in international markets, product defects, failure to secure intellectual property rights, results of litigation, and failure to retain and recruit key employees. For a more detailed discussion of certain risks associated with the Company's business, see the "Business Risks" section of the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended September 30, 2000.

Results of OperationsRevenue

The Company's products are generally designed into personal computer systems, information appliances and semiconductors. License fees and services revenue by segment for the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2001 and 2000, were as follows (dollars in thousands):

Three months ended March 31:	Amount		% Change	% of Consolidated Revenue
	2001	2000		2001	2000

Edgar Filing: PHOENIX TECHNOLOGIES LTD - Form 10-Q

	Amount		% Change	% of Consolidated Revenue
	2001	2000		2001	2000
Platform Enabling	$ 20,398	$ 29,158	-30.0%	79.2%	84.0%
inSilicon	5,289	5,428	-2.6%	20.5%	15.6%
PhoenixNet	74	139	-46.8%	0.3%	0.4%
Total revenue	$ 25,761	$ 34,725	-25.8%	100%	100%

Six months ended March 31:	Amount		% Change	% of Consolidated Revenue
	2001	2000		2001	2000
Platform Enabling	$ 53,256	$ 56,272	-5.4%	82.5%	83.9%
inSilicon	10,344	10,685	-3.2%	16.0%	15.9%
PhoenixNet	936	139	573.4%	1.5%	0.2%
Total revenue	$ 64,536	$ 67,096	-3.8%	100%	100%

The decline in consolidated revenue is primarily attributable to a slower global economy, particularly in Asia in the Platform Enabling segment. Platform Enabling revenue in the second quarter and first six months of fiscal 2001 decreased by 30.0% and 5.4%, respectively, from comparable periods of fiscal 2000, due primarily to lower revenue particularly from Japanese PC makers. inSilicon revenue, net of intercompany transactions, declined due primarily to semiconductor and systems customers experiencing slower demand and uncertainty in the US market. PhoenixNet revenue decreased in the second quarter of fiscal 2001 primarily due to decreased Internet activity on the websites of PhoenixNet's customers. PhoenixNet first generated revenue in the second quarter of fiscal 2000.

Revenue by geographic region for the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2001 and 2000, was as follows (dollars in thousands):

Total revenue	$ 64,536	$ 67,096	-3.8%	100%	100%

During the three-month period ended March 31, 2001, North America revenues were flat, Japan and Taiwan revenues decreased while Europe and rest of Asia revenue increased compared to fiscal 2000. The PC markets in Japan and Taiwan were more sensitive to the changes in the economic conditions compared to other regions.

One customer accounted for 13% of total revenue for the six-month period ended March 31, 2001. For the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2000, another customer accounted for 12% of total revenue.

Gross Margin

Gross margin as a percentage of revenue for the three-month period ended March 31, 2001 decreased to 81.4% from 84.9% for the comparable period in fiscal 2000, primarily attributable to a decline in license revenue, partially offset by a decrease in services costs. Gross margins as a percentage of revenue for the six-month period ended March 31, 2001 increased to 85.8% from 83.5% compared to fiscal 2000, primarily due to a shift in revenue mix to higher margin product.

Cost of revenue included amortization of purchased technology from the acquisition of Sand Microelectronics, Inc. of $0.3 million and $0.6 million for the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2001 and 2000, respectively, and a reversal of non-recurring Y2K support costs of $0.6 million. Gross margin as a percentage of revenue before the amortization of purchased technology and the Y2K support costs reversal, was 82.6% and 86.8% for the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2001, respectively, and 84.1% and 83.6% for the comparable periods of fiscal 2000.

Research and Development Expenses

Research and development expenses for the second quarter of 2001 increased 19% to $11.5 million from $9.7 million in the same quarter a year ago. Research and development expenses in the first six months of 2001 increased by 12% to $22.4 million from $20.2 million in the first six months of 2000. The increases between the periods reflected additional inSilicon expenses related to its recent acquisitions, on-going incremental development efforts associated with the Company's system enabling software, and the Company's additional investment in information appliance technologies. As a percentage of revenue, research and development expenses increased to 44.7% and 34.8% from 28.0% and 30.1% for the comparable periods of fiscal 2000, primarily due to higher expenses as noted above and a decline in revenue.

Sales and Marketing Expenses

Sales and marketing expenses for the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2001 increased by $2.3 million and $5.1 million, respectively, from the comparable periods in fiscal 2000. As a percentage of revenue, sales and marketing expenses in the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2001 increased to 38.9% and 30.7% from the 22.2% and 21.9% for the comparable periods of fiscal 2000. The increase is due primarily to an increase in the size of the Company's direct sales force to position the Company for growth in security and information appliance markets. Management has made a conscious effort to increase sales and marketing efforts through the reallocation of resources.

General and Administrative Expenses

General and administrative expenses for the three and six month periods ended March 31, 2001 increased by $1.5 million and $2.3 million, respectively, from the comparable periods in fiscal 2000. The increase in the second quarter of fiscal year 2001 is mainly attributable to higher inSilicon expenses related primarily to an increase in the bad debt provision and addition of new personnel and investment in infrastructure. As a percentage of revenue, general and administrative expenses in the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2001 increased to 24.6% and 18.3%, respectively, from the 14.0% and 14.3% for the comparable periods of fiscal 2000, primarily due to lower revenue in fiscal 2001.

Amortization of goodwill and acquired intangible assets

Edgar Filing: PHOENIX TECHNOLOGIES LTD - Form 10-Q

Amortization of goodwill and acquired intangible assets included in operating expense was $1.1 million and $1.6 million for the three and six-month periods of fiscal 2001, respectively, as compared to $0.6 million and $1.1 million for the comparable periods of fiscal 2000. Amortization of goodwill and acquired intangible assets relates primarily to various purchase acquisitions (see Note 3 of Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements).

Stock-Based Compensation

The stock-based compensation charges in both the three and six-month periods ended during fiscal years' 2001 and 2000 were mostly due to the granting of options to purchase inSilicon stock at exercise prices less than the fair market value of inSilicon common stock on the grant date.

Interest and Other Income, Net

Interest and other income, net, for the three and six-month periods ended March 31, 2001, decreased 7.9% and 0.7%, respectively, from the comparable periods in fiscal 2000, primarily due to a decrease in cash balance as the Company continues to fund the stock repurchase program and to make additional acquisitions.

Provision for Income Taxes

The Company's effective tax rates, excluding minority interest, for the three and six months ended March 31, 2001 were 32% and 8%, respectively, compared with 32% for each of the same periods of 2000. The amount associated with the difference in tax rates for the six-month periods ended March 31, 2001 and 2000 is immaterial. For federal income tax purposes, the Company does not file a consolidated return with inSilicon as the Company owns less than 80% of the voting stock issued and outstanding as of March 31, 2001.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

At March 31, 2001, the Company's principal source of liquidity consisted of cash and cash equivalents, and short-term investments totaling $73.9 million. Cash and cash equivalents of $42.6 million as of March 31, 2001 included $33.0 million restricted and owned by inSilicon. The primary sources of cash during the first six months of fiscal 2001 were $8.2 million from operating activities, net sales of short-term investments of $21.4 million and proceeds from issuance of common stock under various stock plans of $6.3 million. The primary uses of cash during the first six months of fiscal 2001 were $23.7 million to fund certain acquisitions (see Note 3 to Condensed Financial Statements), $18.8 million for the repurchase of common stock and warrant, and $5.0 million for the purchase of property, equipment and computer software.

The Company believes that current cash, short-term investment balances and cash flow from operations will be sufficient to meet its operating and capital requirements on a short-term and long-term basis.
