Compensation of Directors

Directors who are also officers of AES are not paid any fees or additional compensation for service as members of AES's Board of Directors or any committee thereof. Each director who is not employed by AES received $30,000 as annual cash compensation for service on the Board of Directors for 2001, and $2,000 for each board meeting attended in person and $750 for each meeting in which he or she participated by telephone conference. In addition, each Director is paid $2000 per day for each of the Company's quarterly business meetings he/she attends. The directors may elect to defer this compensation pursuant to the Deferred Compensation Plan for Directors in the form of stock units. All directors are reimbursed for travel and other related expenses incurred in attending Board and committee meetings. Directors who are not employed by AES are not eligible to participate in AES's employee benefit plans but participate in The AES Corporation Stock Option Plan for Outside Directors that was adopted in 2001. Under the terms of the plan, the Company issues options to purchase shares of the Company's Common Stock at a price equal to the quoted market price on the date the option is granted. Directors eligible to participate in the plan receive options annually to purchase Common Stock valued on the grant date at $40,000. These options become eligible for exercise in installments of 50% at the end of each of the first two years. Directors may elect to take their annual compensation consisting of the $30,000 annual fee, the $40,000 annual stock option grant, plus four regular meeting fees aggregating $8,000 in the form of a stock option award. For each Director so electing, they will receive stock options equal to 1.15 times the cash value, and such stock option grants shall vest within one year of grant.

Committees of the Board

The Board has four standing committees: the Financial Audit Committee ("Audit Committee"), the Environmental, Safety and Social Responsibility Committee, the Nominating and Governance Committee, and the Compensation Committee.

The Audit Committee of the Board of Directors is responsible for the review and oversight of the Company's performance with respect to its financial responsibilities and the integrity of the Company's accounting and reporting practices. The Audit Committee also recommends to the Board of Directors the selection of the Company's independent auditors. The Audit Committee is composed of four non-employee directors and operates under a written charter adopted and approved by the Board of Directors. Each Audit Committee member is independent as defined by NYSE listing standards.

The Environmental, Safety and Social Responsibility Committee monitors the environmental and safety compliance, respectively, of the Company and its subsidiaries and reviews and approves the scope of the Company's internal environmental and safety compliance audit programs to consider the adequacy and appropriateness of the programs being planned and performed, as well as periodically reviews the Company's commitment to, and implementation of, its principle to act in a socially responsible way. The Environmental, Safety and Social Responsibility Committee met once in 2001.

The Nominating and Governance Committee provides recommendations for potential nomination for election of new members of the Board of Directors, and also considers governance issues relating to the Board of Directors. The Nominating and Governance Committee considers potential nominations provided by stockholders and submits suggested nominations, when appropriate, to the Board of Directors for approval. The Nominating and Governance Committee met once in 2001. Stockholders wishing to recommend persons for consideration by the Nominating Committee as nominees for election to the Company's Board of Directors can do so by writing to the Secretary of the Company at 1001 North 19th Street, Arlington, Virginia 22209, giving each such person's name, biographical data and qualifications. Any such recommendation should be accompanied by a written statement from the person recommended of his or her consent to be named as a nominee and, if nominated and elected, to serve as a director. The Company's By-Laws also contain a procedure for stockholder nomination of directors. (See "Submission of Stockholder Proposals and Nominations" below.)

The Compensation Committee establishes rates of salary, bonuses, profit sharing contributions, grants of stock options, retirement and other compensation for all directors and officers of AES and for such other people as the Board may designate. All of the members of this committee are "disinterested persons" under the provisions of Rule 16b-3 adopted under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"). The Compensation Committee's primary responsibility is to formulate and maintain the compensation program of the Company in order to develop, retain (and attract, when necessary) people important to the Company's performance. This committee specifically acts to evaluate the performance and set the total compensation for the executive officers of the Company, including the CEO, in accordance with the guidelines discussed below. This committee has delegated to the CEO the power to set compensation for the non-executive officers. The Compensation Committee met one time in 2001.

Audit Committee Report

The Company, not the Audit Committee nor the independent auditor, is responsible for the preparation of its financial statements and its operating results and for the appropriate safekeeping of the Company's assets. The independent auditor's responsibility is to attest to the fair presentation of the financial statements. The independent auditor is accountable to the Board and the Audit Committee, and the Board and Audit Committee have the ultimate authority and responsibility to select, evaluate and, where appropriate, replace the independent auditor. The role of the Audit Committee is to be satisfied that both the Company and the independent auditor discharge their respective responsibilities effectively.

The Audit Committee held five meetings during fiscal 2001. The meetings were designed, among other things, to facilitate and encourage communication among the Audit Committee, the Company, and the Company's independent auditors, Deloitte & Touche LLP. The Audit Committee discussed with the Company's independent auditors the overall scope and plans for their respective audits, and met with the independent auditors, with and without management present, to discuss the results of their examinations and their evaluations of the Company's internal controls.

The Audit Committee has reviewed and discussed the audited consolidated financial statements for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001 with management and Deloitte & Touche.

The Audit Committee also discussed with the independent auditors matters required to be discussed with audit committees under generally accepted auditing standards, including, among other things, matters related to the conduct of the audit of the Company's consolidated financial statements and the matters required to be discussed by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61, as amended (Communication with Audit Committees).

The Company's independent auditors also provided to the Audit Committee the written disclosures and the letter required by Independence Standards Board Standard No. 1 (Independence Discussions with Audit Committees), and discussed with the Audit Committee their independence from the Company. When considering Deloitte & Touche's independence, the Audit Committee considered whether their provision of services to the Company beyond those rendered in connection with their audit and review of the Company's consolidated financial statements was compatible with maintaining their independence. The Audit Committee also reviewed, among other things, the amount of fees paid to Deloitte & Touche for audit and non-audit services. (Please see Principal Accounting Firm Fees chart located in the section of the Proxy marked, "General".)

Based on its review and these meetings, discussions and reports, and subject to the limitations on its role and responsibilities referred to above and in the Audit Committee Charter, the Audit Committee recommended to the Board of Directors that the Company's audited consolidated financial statements for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001 be included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K. The Audit Committee also recommended the selection of the Company's independent auditors, and, based on such recommendation, the Board has selected Deloitte & Touche LLP as the Company's independent auditors for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002.

Compensation Committee Report on Executive Compensation

The Compensation Committee's (the "Committee") guidelines for compensation of executive officers are designed to provide fair and competitive levels of total compensation while integrating pay with performance. Executive officers, including the CEO, are evaluated annually on the basis of both individual responsibilities and contributions, as well as Company-wide results in two related areas: (i) corporate culture (or principles) and (ii) business or functional area performance.

There are three elements in the Company's executive officer compensation, which is consistent with how most people who work for the Company are compensated. These elements are base salary, annual incentive compensation, and stock option program. Beginning in 1999, Mr. Bakke's compensation was granted exclusively in stock options. See below for a more complete description. Certain executive officers may be compensated similarly in the future.

Base salary is adjusted annually by the Committee to account for general economic and cost of living changes. Adjustments are also made periodically to recognize significant new or additional responsibilities of individual executive officers. The Committee's guidelines are to provide base salary compensation generally consistent with its interpretation of industry averages for individuals with similar responsibility levels.

Annual incentive compensation is based upon both objective and subjective measures in the areas of corporate culture and business or functional area performance, and generally takes the form of bonuses payable after year-end. With respect to corporate culture, the Company's shared principles of fairness, integrity, fun and social responsibility are integral to its operations and serve as its founding principles. These principles apply equally to the internal activities of the Company as well as its external relationships. Each executive officer's individual contribution to demonstrating and nurturing these shared values is reviewed and considered as a factor in determining annual incentive compensation. Evaluations by the Committee in this area are inherently subjective.

The second area considered in the determination of annual compensation is the individual executive officer's performance with respect to his or her related business responsibilities and/or functional area. Although all aspects of an individual's responsibilities are considered in determining annual compensation, several quantitative measures of annual performance are considered significant, including operating margin improvements, operating reliability, earnings per share contributions, environmental performance, and plant and Company-wide safety. The qualitative factors considered significant include business and project development progress, effective strategic planning and implementation, Company-wide support, understanding of and adherence to the Company's values, and community relations and people development.

Important strategic successes or failures can take several years to translate into objectively measurable results. The Committee does not compute annual incentive compensation using a mathematical formula of pre-determined performance goals and objective criteria. As a result, the Committee's ultimate determination of the amount, if any, of annual incentive compensation is made at the end of each year based on a subjective evaluation of several quantitative and qualitative factors, with primary emphasis given this year to those factors listed in the preceding paragraph. There are no targeted, minimum or maximum levels of annual incentive compensation, and such compensation does not necessarily bear any consistent relationship to salary amounts or total compensation.

The Company's stock option program is used to reward people for the corporate responsibilities they undertake, their performance of those duties and to help them to think and act like owners. All executive officers and approximately 28% of the total people in the Company participate in this program. Stock options are usually granted annually at the market price of the Common Stock on the date of grant and provide vesting periods to reward people for continued service to the Company. The Committee's determination of the number of options to be granted to executive officers is based upon the same factors as such officer's annual incentive compensation discussed above with additional consideration given to the number of options previously granted.

Edgar Filing: AES CORPORATION - Form DEF 14A

Since 1994, the Company has participated in an annual survey conducted by an outside consulting firm that encompasses over 400 public companies. Based in part on the survey results, the Committee established guidelines for suggested ranges of option grants to executive officers as well as the rest of the people in the Company. Based on the survey, the Committee established guideline ranges for eligible participants between the 50th and 90th percentile of similar companies. As with annual incentive compensation, the determination of an individual's grant is subjective and although the Committee has established suggested guidelines, the grants are not formula based.

Total compensation is reviewed to determine whether amounts are competitive with other companies whose operations are similar in type, size and complexity with those of the Company, as well as a broad range of similarly sized companies. Comparisons are made with published amounts, where available, and, from time to time, the Company also participates in various industry-sponsored compensation surveys in addition to the public-company survey described above. The Committee also has, in the past, engaged an independent compensation consultant to specifically review the level and appropriateness of executive officer compensation. Other than as described above, the Company uses the results of surveys, when available, for informational purposes only and does not target individual elements of or total compensation to any specific range of survey results (i.e., high, low or median) other than the Committee's suggested guidelines for stock option grants as discussed in the previous paragraph. Because each individual's compensation is determined, in part, by experience and performance, actual compensation generally varies from industry averages.

Executive officers also participate in the Company's profit sharing plan (or deferred compensation plan for executive officers) on the same terms as all other people in the Company, subject to any legal limitations on amounts that may be contributed or benefits that may be payable under the plan. Matching contributions and annual profit sharing contributions are made with the Common Stock of the Company to further encourage long-term performance. In addition, certain individuals of the Company participate in the Company's supplemental retirement plan, which provides supplemental retirement benefits to "highly compensated employees" (as defined in the Internal Revenue Code) of any amount which would be contributed on such individual's behalf under the profit sharing plan (or the deferred compensation plan for executive officers) but is not so contributed because of the limitations contained in the Internal Revenue Code.

In most cases, the Committee has taken steps to qualify income paid to any officer as a deductible business expense pursuant to regulations issued by the Internal Revenue Service pursuant to Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to qualifying compensation paid to executive officers in excess of $1 million. Compensation earned pursuant to the exercise of options granted under the Company's former stock option plan (which was discontinued in 1991) is not considered for purposes of the $1 million aggregate limit, and exercises under the 1991 Plan are similarly excluded. The Committee will continue to consider the implications to the Company of qualifying all compensation as a deductible expense under Section 162 (m), but retains the discretion to pay bonuses commensurate with an executive officer's contributions to the success of the Company, irrespective of whether such amounts are entirely deductible.

Mr. Bakke's 2001 Compensation

Mr. Bakke's compensation for 2001 was reviewed and approved by the Committee utilizing the guidelines discussed above. Specifically, the following primarily positive factors considered were:

Strong adherence, understanding, and awareness by the people in the Company to its shared principles of integrity, fairness, social responsibility and fun, as indicated by the Company's internal values survey, with particular emphasis made on excellent progress made at the Company's foreign subsidiaries.

Significant development of new project and business opportunities, including among others:

The acquisition of a 600MW coal-fired facility, Kelvin Power Station, in the Republic of South Africa;

The sale related interests in the Argentine hydroelectric facility Hidronequen to Total Austral S.A.;

The acquisition of a majority of the energy assets of Thermo Ecoteck Corporation;

Edgar Filing: AES CORPORATION - Form DEF 14A

The successful bid for Ras Laffan, the 750MW and 40 million imperial gallons of water per day natural gas-fired, combined-cycle cogeneration power and water desalination project in the State of Qatar;

The acquisition of an oil-fired 140MW cogeneration facility in the town of Ottana in Sardinia, Italy;

The acquisition of a majority interest in a 290 MW barge-mounted natural gas-fired electric generating business in Lagos, Nigeria;

Numerous project financings and refinancings totaling over $5.6 billion.

Successful corporate issuance of approximately $2.15 billion of common equity, $1,400 million aggregate principal amount of senior notes, and $425 million of bank facilities.

The following primarily negative factors considered were:

A decline in the price of the Company's common stock of 70% since December 31, 2000.

The Company did not meet its budgeted earnings for 2001.

Reduction in the Company's expected long-term earnings growth rates.

Failure to complete the acquisition of the Mohave coal-fired generation plant.

Mr. Bakke received no cash compensation for 2001, and is compensated solely by the grant of stock options (in lieu of a cash salary and cash bonus). The Committee believes that this method of compensation aligns Mr. Bakke's compensation more closely with the financial interests of the Company's other stockholders.

Related Party Transactions

On October 2, 2001, Mr. Sharp received a personal loan from the Company for $1.5 million. The loan bears interest at the rate of 8%, matures one year from the date of execution and is secured by a mortgage on certain real estate. On October 2, 2001, another executive officer, Thomas Tribune, also received a personal loan from the Company for $1.5 million. The loan bears interest at the rate of 8%, matures one year from the date of execution and is secured by a mortgage on certain real estate. The Company provided these loans to these executive officers to prevent them from being forced to immediately sell shares of AES common stock that they had pledged as collateral for outstanding margin loans that had come due as a result of the recent declines in the Company's stock price.
