Very truly yours,

Wayne S. Reisner

STERLING CAPITAL CORPORATION NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS December 31, 2004

Note A - Significant Accounting Policies

Sterling Capital Corporation (the "Corporation") (formerly known as The Value Line Development Capital Corporation) is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "Act"), and is a diversified, closed-end investment company. The Corporation operates exclusively as an internally managed investment company whereby its own officers and employees, under the general supervision of its Board of Directors, conduct its operations. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed, in all material respects, by the Corporation in the preparation of its financial statements. The policies are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

(1) Security Valuation

Investments in securities traded on a national securities exchange (or reported on the NASDAQ national market) are valued at the last reported sales price on the day of valuation; other securities traded in the over-the-counter market and listed securities for which no sale was reported on that date are valued at the last quoted bid price, except for short positions and call options written, for which the last quoted asked price is used. Investments in real estate are valued at fair value as determined by the Board of Directors.

(2) Federal Income Taxes

The Corporation's policy is to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code") that are applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all its taxable income to its shareholders.

The Corporation for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2004 was a "personal holding company" under the Code, since five or fewer shareholders own directly or indirectly more than 50% in value of the Corporation's outstanding stock, and more than 60% of the Corporation's adjusted ordinary income was "personal holding company income". As a personal holding company, the Corporation will be subject to penalty taxes unless it distributes to its shareholders an amount at least equal to its otherwise undistributed personal holding company income, net of appropriate deductions applicable thereto. The Corporation did not have any undistributed personal holding company income for the year ended December 31, 2004. Personal holding company income does not include the excess, if any, of net realized long-term capital gains over net realized short-term capital losses, less any Federal income tax attributable to such excess. The Corporation has considered methods of minimizing the possible tax impact of being a personal holding company, and if appropriate, will make sufficient distributions to shareholders so that the Corporation will not be subject to such penalty tax.

At December 31, 2004, the Corporation had a net capital loss carryforward, which may be used to offset future capital gains, of $582,509.

STERLING CAPITAL CORPORATION NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS December 31, 2004

(3) Securities Transactions Valuation

Securities transactions are accounted for on the date the securities are purchased or sold (trade date), dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date and interest income is accrued as earned. Gains and losses from securities transactions were computed on the identified cost basis.

(4) Distributions to Shareholders

Dividends to shareholders are recorded on the dividend declaration date.

5) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Note B - Securities Transactions

The following summarizes all securities transactions by the Corporation for the year ended December 31, 2004:

Obligations and $504,644 of Corporate Bonds)	$ 1,743,743

Item 6. Schedule of Investments.

The schedule of investments in securities of unaffiliated issuers is included in the Registrant's report to stockholders filed under Item 1 of this form.

Item 7. Disclosure of Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures for Closed-End Management Investment Companies.

The Registrant's proxy voting policies and procedures that it uses to determine how to vote proxies' relating to portfolio securities is as follows:

Sterling Capital Corporation (the "Company") is uniquely structured as an internally managed closed-end investment company. Our research efforts, including the receipt and analysis of proxy material, are focused on the securities in the Company's portfolio, as well as alternative investment opportunities. We vote proxies relating to our portfolio securities in the best long-term interests of the Company.

Edgar Filing: STERLING CAPITAL CORP - Form N-CSR

Our investment approach stresses fundamental security analysis, which includes an evaluation of the integrity, as well as the effectiveness of management personnel. In proxy material, we review management proposals and management recommendations relating to shareholder proposals in order to, among other things, gain assurance that management's positions are consistent with its integrity and the long-term interests of the company. We generally find this to be the case and, accordingly, give significant weight to the views of management when we vote proxies.

Proposals that may have an impact on the rights or privileges of the securities held by the Company would be reviewed very carefully. The explanation for a negative impact could justify the proposal; however, if such justification were not present, we would vote against a significant reduction in the rights or privileges associated with any of our holdings.

Proposals relating to corporate governance matters are reviewed on a case-by-case basis. When they involve changes in the state of incorporation, mergers or other restructuring, we would, if necessary, complete our review of the rationale for the proposal by contacting company representatives and, with few exceptions, vote in favor of management's recommendations.

Proposals relating to anti-takeover provisions, such as staggered boards, poison pills and supermajorities could be more problematic. They would be considered in light of our assessment of the capability of current management, the duration of the proposal, the negative impact it might have on the attractiveness of the company to future "investors," among other factors. We can envision circumstances under which we would vote against an anti-takeover provision.

Generally, we would vote with management on proposals relating to changes to the company's capital structure, including increases and decreases of capital and issuances of preferred stock; however, we would review the facts and circumstances associated with each proposal before finalizing our decision.

Well-structured stock option plans and management compensation programs are essential for companies to attract and retain high caliber management personnel. We generally vote in favor of proposals relating to these issues; however, there could be an occasion on which we viewed such a proposal as over reaching on the part of management or having the potential for excessive dilution when we would vote against the proposal.

Corporations should act in a responsible manner toward their employees, the communities in which they are located, the customers they serve and the world at large. We have observed that most stockholder proposals relating to social issues focus on a narrow issue and the corporate position set forth in the proxy material provides a well-considered response demonstrating an appropriate and responsible action or position. Accordingly, we generally support management recommendations on these types of proposals; however, we would consider each proposal on a case-by-case basis.

We take voting proxies of securities held in our portfolio very seriously. As indicated above, it is an integral part of the analytical process at Sterling Capital Corporation. Each proposal and any competing interests are reviewed carefully on a case-by-case basis. Generally, we support and vote in accordance with the recommendations of management; however, the overriding basis for the votes we cast is the best long-term interests of the Company.

Item 9. Purchases of Equity Securities by Closed-End Management Investment Company and Affiliated Purchasers.

The Registrant nor any "affiliated purchaser" had any reportable purchases of the Registrant's equity securities.

Item 10. Submission of Matters to a Vote of Security Holders.

The Registrant has changed the procedures by which shareholders may recommend nominees to the registrant's board of directors as follows:

Pursuant to policies and procedures adopted by the Board, the Independent Directors are responsible for nominating candidates to become Independent Directors and the full Board is responsible for nominating candidates to become Interested Directors, provided that at least a majority of the Independent Directors approve the nomination. The Board, including the Independent Directors, will consider Director candidates recommended by shareholders. The Board generally considers nominees for Directors at one meeting each year. The Board has adopted a resolution setting forth the following procedures for considering nominees to the Board of Directors. In considering nominees, the Board will take into consideration the needs of the Board and the qualifications of the candidate. The Board may also take into consideration the number of shares held by the recommending shareholder and the length of time that such shares have been held. To have a candidate considered by the Board, a shareholder must submit the recommendation in writing and must include:

- o The name of the shareholder and evidence of the person's ownership of shares of the Corporation, including the number of shares owned and the length of time of ownership; and
- o The name of the candidate, the candidate's resume or a listing of his or her qualifications to be a Director of the Corporation and the person's consent to be named as a Director if selected by the Board.

The shareholder recommendation and information described above must be sent to the Corporate Secretary, c/o Sterling Capital Corporation, 635 Madison Avenue, New York, New York 10022.

The Board believes that the minimum qualifications for serving as a Director of the Corporation are that a candidate demonstrate, by significant accomplishment in his or her field, an ability to make a meaningful contribution to the Board's oversight of the business and affairs of the Corporation on behalf of shareholders and have an impeccable record and reputation for honest and ethical conduct in both his or her professional and personal activities. In addition, the Board examines a candidate's specific experiences and skills, time availability in light of other commitments and, in the case of candidates to become Independent Directors, potential conflicts of interest and independence from management and the Corporation. In the case of candidates to become Interested Directors, the Board considers the candidates relationship and familiarity with the Corporation. The Corporation does not pay any third party a fee to assist in the process of identifying and evaluating candidates.
