SUNTRUST UPDATES INVESTMENT COMMUNITY;

MOVING AHEAD WITH SUPERIOR PROPOSAL TO MERGE WITH WACHOVIA

Files Federal Reserve Application And Amended Preliminary Proxy Statement; Will Solicit Wachovia Shareholders To Vote Against First Union Transaction On August 3

ATLANTA, GA -- SunTrust Banks, Inc. (NYSE: STI) today told investors it is moving ahead with its proposal to merge with Wachovia Corporation (NYSE: WB) and that it is filing the required application with the Federal Reserve today and has refiled its preliminary proxy statement to solicit Wachovia shareholders to vote against the First Union/Wachovia transaction at a special shareholder meeting on August 3, 2001. SunTrust plans to mail its proxy statement to Wachovia shareholders as soon as it is permitted to do so by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

In a conference call with the investment community today, Phil Humann, SunTrust Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer, said SunTrust believes its proposal is superior in many ways to the First Union/Wachovia transaction, despite the fact that First Union and Wachovia have amended their transaction three times since SunTrust made its proposal. SunTrust's proposal offers:

- o Higher current value: SunTrust's proposal offers a current premium. At yesterday's closing prices, SunTrust's proposal offers Wachovia shareholders $2.08 per share more than the First Union/Wachovia transaction, or additional total value of approximately $437 million.
- o Stronger currency: SunTrust offers Wachovia shareholders a demonstrably stronger currency than First Union. SunTrust has delivered stronger price performance and higher total returns to shareholders than First Union over the past 1, 5 and 10 years.
- o Faster earnings growth: Based on historical results and analyst 2001 estimates, SunTrust's five-year compound annual growth rate in core earnings per share was 12% (adjusted for stock splits and excluding non-recurring items and merger-related restructuring charges) compared to -4% for First Union on the same basis.

- o Simpler and better dividend: SunTrust believes its proposal offers a simpler and better dividend. In addition to increasing the per share annual dividend on its common stock to $2.22 so Wachovia shareholders would receive on a pro forma basis the same $2.40 annual dividend they currently receive, the SunTrust proposal provides the opportunity to share in its dividend growth. SunTrust has raised its dividend every year for the past 16 years and never cut it -- and has significant additional capacity for dividend increases. First Union proposes two alternatives to supplement its per share annual dividend of $1.92 on a pro forma basis - either a special dividend of $0.48 per share that applies for only one year or a complex new preferred stock whose workings First Union and Wachovia have not fully disclosed.
- o Lower integration risk: SunTrust believes its proposal offers lower integration risk. First Union has estimated higher cost savings of $890 million, 78% higher than SunTrust's more conservative estimate of $500 million. The First Union proposal will result in 3,000 more job losses and 125-150 more branch closures, which SunTrust believes will lead to greater disruption for customers, employees and communities.
- o Stronger capital position: SunTrust believes the tangible common ratio is the most appropriate measure of capital strength, and on this basis SunTrust will have a stronger capital position than First Union. SunTrust's estimated pro forma tangible common ratio will be 5.63%, well above First Union's 4.78%.
- o Superior credit quality: SunTrust has a history of credit quality superior to First Union and far better credit quality today. As of March 31, 2001, the most recent statistics available, SunTrust's net charge-off ratio was .38%, well below First Union's .53%, and a non-performing asset ratio of .52%, far better than First Union's 1.30%.

Mr. Humann stated, "Our goal today is to set the record straight and make sure Wachovia shareholders have facts, not promises or projections, upon which to base their decision about which of two competing merger proposals is superior. Wachovia shareholders do have a choice. We have been gratified by the positive reaction to our proposal and are strengthened in our conviction it is better for all Wachovia constituents - shareholders, employees, customers and communities. In our view, the simple reality remains that SunTrust is offering a higher current value, a stronger currency, a history of faster earnings growth, a simpler and better dividend, lower integration risk, a stronger capital position, and superior credit quality. That is the message we will be taking to Wachovia shareholders and we have confidence they will respond positively."
